The Glen Echo Mystery.*

BY WALTER WELLMAN.

SIX months ago, through the death of a kinsman in Chicago, a lot of old pictures, furniture, bric-a-brac and papers came into my possession. Most of these things were stored away in the garret of my house. One day, having occasion to go to the storeroom, my attention was attracted to an old-fashioned, battered leather trunk. I had often thought of satisfying my curiosity as to its contents, but had never been able to find a key that would fit the lock. This day, however, it occurred to me that the ancient leather contrivance was of no value, and that a knife would do quite as well as a key; so I whipped out my pocket-knife and ripped a long slit in the leather top.

Within I found a large number of packets of old letters, account books and diaries, and all sorts of manuscripts and pamphlets. All these I tumbled out upon the floor, and looked through them in an idle way. At first I found nothing of unusual interest; but soon I came upon a packet of peculiar shape. It was apparently a sort of home-made envelope, composed of two pieces of old-fashioned blue linen paper folded and glued together. Upon the face of the packet was inscribed these words: —

* This is one of two stories that won the $1,000 prize in THE BLACK CAT prize-story competition ending March 31, 1898.

Strictly Private

Never to be opened by anyone but me.

Henry Stone.

This was the signature of my dead kinsman, and I suppose I should have respected his injunction; but I did not. My curiosity was stronger than my reverence for the dead, so I slit open the packet.

Now I wish I had not done so. By prying into the secrets of the past, accidentally placed within my keeping, I have come face to face with a mystery which appalls me. For days and days and nights and nights I have turned it over in my mind, have looked at it from every point of view, have analyzed, searched, thought, imagined. But it has been all in vain. I am completely baffled. So are my friends to whom I have submitted the matter. Our combined ingenuity fails to afford a solution.

What I found within the packet of old blue linen paper was simply the following three cuttings from newspapers of long ago: —

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE AT GLEN ECHO.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Oct. 20. — The police officials here and detectives from New York are unable to throw any light upon the mysterious disappearance of Sylvester Baldwin from the house of our esteemed fellow townsman, Prof. Edwin Stone, who lives in the old Stone manor house at Glen Echo, one of the picturesque suburbs of this city. Mr. Baldwin strangely disappeared last Sunday night, and though diligent search has been made for him during the forty-eight hours that have elapsed, not a single clue has been obtained.

Mr. Baldwin's home is in Boston. He came here about two weeks ago to visit Professor Stone, who was his classmate at Harvard. A house party was given in his honor, and among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Jones, of Albany, Miss Irene Davidge, of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, of Yonkers. Mr. Baldwin was about twenty five years of age, and a rising young lawyer of Boston. He was unmarried, but it is whispered that he had become engaged since his arrival here.

Mr. Baldwin was in fine health and spirits. Almost every day the guests had indulged in picnics, boating excursions, fishing, horseback riding and other amusements. Mr. Baldwin was the life of the party with his vivacity, wit and love of fun. On many of these excursions it was im possible for Professor Stone to go, as it is well known that in his laboratory, located on the roof of the manor house, he is carrying on some very important experiments. When he felt compelled to remain in his workshop, Professor Stone designated Mr. Baldwin to act as his representative in the entertainment of the party.

Sunday last the ladies and gentlemen, accompanied by Professor Stone's aged mother, with whom he lives, attended divine services in the morning, and spent the afternoon in walks and drives. Toward evening, the weather growing colder, they all assembled in the big dining hall, where they made a rousing log fire in the old-fashioned fireplace. They had refreshments and music, and Mr. Baldwin's fine baritone voice was never heard to better advantage. About ten o'clock, after planning their excursion for the next day, all retired to their rooms on the second floor.

Mr. Baldwin was heard by Mr. and Mrs. Jones and by Miss Davidge, who occupied adjoining rooms, to enter his chamber a few moments after they had reached their own apartments. He was whistling softly or humming an air, indicating the happy condition of his mind. He was also heard closing a window, and closing and latching the outside blinds. Between the apartment of Mr. Baldwin and that occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jones there is a door, somewhat warped by time, and through the cracks and the big old-fashioned keyhole Mr. Jones heard Mr. Baldwin bounce into bed; but as the light in his room was not extinguished, as Mr. Jones noticed when he put out his own light and retired, the supposition is that Mr. Baldwin was reading in bed before going to sleep, as was his habit.

From that moment not the slightest trace of the young lawyer has been secured. The last known of him, he was apparently lying in bed, reading, a happy man. Next morning he was not in his room. All his clothing and effects, save only the pajamas which he wore as a night robe, were in the apartment. He had disappeared as completely as if the earth had swallowed him up.

It is inconceivable that Mr. Baldwin suffered an attack of mental aberration and wandered away, for there had been a light fall of snow that evening and no tracks were found in it around the house. The barn and outbuildings, as well as every nook and cranny of the manor house, were carefully searched. The police looked into the haymows, and even lowered a man into the wells. They scoured the country around, but no one had seen or heard of a man wandering about in his pajamas. If Mr. Baldwin left the house, he went away without shoes, hat or clothing; and as cold weather has prevailed since his disappearance, it is almost inconceivable that he has not been forced to apply for shelter or food during the last forty-eight hours.

The detectives do not believe that Mr. Baldwin left the house. The morning after his disappearance the window blinds in his room were all found fastened on the inside. So, too, were the front door and the rear or kitchen door and side door of the house. All were locked, with the keys in place inside. The detectives have satisfied themselves that the fall of snow Sunday evening ceased about nine o'clock, and it would have been impossible for Mr. Baldwin to wander away, or be carried away, without leaving traces of footsteps.

But neither Mr. Baldwin living nor Mr. Baldwin dead is to be found in the house now. The search has been thorough from cellar to garret. Professor Stone's laboratory upon the roof has been thoroughly ransacked. As is known to our citizens, Professor Stone is engaged in investigations looking toward a new illuminating process and also in the water-proofing of fabrics. For these purposes he keeps upon the roof quite a collection of apparatus, retorts, gas generators, a large lot of fabric, some of which has been chemically treated, tools, fine instruments, etc. Professor Stone says he was in his laboratory hard at work the night his friend disappeared. No other member of the family or any of the guests heard Mr. Baldwin's steps that fateful night. Professor Stone insisted that the detectives should thoroughly search his laboratory. The officers opened the gas machines, sifted the cinders in all the retorts and overhauled all the piles of fabric. They found not the slightest trace of the missing man, dead or alive.

Professor Stone and all the members of his house party, so merry a few days ago, are bowed down with grief. They not only fear that Mr. Baldwin is dead, but they are overwhelmed by the mystery which surrounds them. They feel that they are living within the shadow of a tragedy which has not been explained and which thus far is wholly inexplicable.

MYSTERY PILED ON MYSTERY.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Oct. 22. — The mystery of the disappearance of Sylvester Baldwin is not yet cleared up. In fact, it grows deeper and darker. This morning a telegram was received from Saratoga. It read as follows: —

CHIEF OF POLICE, POUGHKEEPSIE: Body of man in night-clothes found last Monday morning at daylight by mail carrier on bridle-path in the Adirondacks about one hundred miles from here. What was date of your man's disappearance?

CITY MARSHAL.

To this Chief of Police Kipley replied, giving the date of Mr. Baldwin's disappearance, and adding: "Impossible same man."

Of course it is impossible, and yet it is a most strange and striking coincidence. Have two men disappeared in their pajamas during the past week? This most extraordinary development did not impress Chief Kipley as having any bearing upon the Baldwin case. When asked if there could possibly be any connection between the two incidents he replied: —

"It is absurd to think there was. Mr. Baldwin disappeared after ten o'clock Sunday night. Early next morning the body of a man was found in the Adirondacks, two hundred miles from here. There is no railway nearer than Saratoga. It is a journey of about two days from the place where the body was found to the nearest railway station, and that is by mounted courier. A wagon would need four days over those rough roads. It was a physical impossibility for the body of Mr. Baldwin to be carried to that remote point in the Adirondacks by next morning, and, therefore, we do not need to discuss this phase of the case any farther. The body found in the mountains is that of some other man."

Chief Kipley is undoubtedly right. Your reporter has ascertained that the only train for the north after Mr. Baldwin retired to his room was the midnight express, which does not make connections at Albany for Saratoga. The earliest possible arrival at Saratoga would have been at ten o'clock Monday morning, and that is still one hundred miles by a rough mountain road from the place where the body was found, according to the telegram, at daylight Monday morning.

Notwithstanding the utter impossibility of there being any connection between the two incidents, Miss Davidge, who has taken much to heart the strange fate of Mr. Baldwin, has insisted that careful investigation be made of the Adirondack case. In this she is supported by Professor Stone, and by others at the Glen Echo house. Their anxiety is so great that they grasp at straws. Chief Kipley, to humor their strange whim, has agreed to send a man to the mountains to inquire carefully into the finding of the body there, though protesting that it is useless expense and trouble.

Chief Kipley is still convinced, as are all the detectives who have worked on the case, that Mr. Baldwin, living or dead, is still in the manor house. He has expressed his belief to Professor Stone, and the latter has insisted upon a more thorough search. In consequence, the old house has been nearly pulled to pieces. Partitions have been cut down, floors ripped out, walls opened, the floor of the cellar dug up, and the ashes and cinders in every furnace and stove, including the retorts in Professor Stone's laboratory, have been subjected to chemical analysis by Professors Tausig and Bruinier, of the Polytechnic School. The barns and outbuildings, strawstacks and wells, have all been researched. Every scrap of paper in Mr. Baldwin's rooms has been scrutinized. All the inmates of the house have been subjected to another examination, but without disclosing any new facts. Not a single trace of Mr. Baldwin or of the manner in which he left or was taken from his room, not even a shadow of a clue, has been discovered.

MR. BALDWIN'S BODY FOUND.

AN ASTOUNDING CASE.

SARATOGA, Oct. 26.— The body found in the Adirondacks a week ago this morning was that of Sylvester Baldwin, after all. It has been positively identified by Professor Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Jones and Miss Irene Davidge, who came here to view it, accompanied by your reporter. But instead of clearing up the mystery, this discovery has darkened it into one of the most inexplicable crimes of the century.

All we know now is that Mr. Baldwin is dead; that he disappeared from his room in the manor house at Glen Echo after ten o'clock Sunday night, the 8th in-t.; that his body was found at daylight next morning two hundred miles away, a hundred miles from the nearest railway; and that he must have been foully murdered.

Detective Brown, who was sent by Chief Kipley to investigate the Adirondack case, reached Saratoga last Friday morning, and by hard riding over the mountain roads arrived at Cascadeville Saturday evening. There he found the body, which had been brought in from a point eight miles north. Mr. Brown closely questioned the mail carrier who had found the body about six o'clock Monday morning, on his way from Lake Placid. There was no doubt as to the day and hour, as these were attested by the mail carrier, Daniel Givins, and by the authorities at Cascadeville, who had sent after the remains, and also despatched a courier to Westport with a telegram to the City Marshal of Saratoga.

When Givins came upon the body it was lying in the road. His horse was frightened by it. The remains lay in a sort of heap, and were not yet quite cold.

The skull was smashed, the neck broken, and the head driven in toward the shoulders. Many bones in the body and limbs were broken, indicating that the remains may have been tightly packed in a box or crammed into a cask. The only clothing upon the corpse was a suit of silken pajamas, tied around the waist with a cord of the same material.

The deceased had never been seen in that region, nor was any one known to be missing. The population is sparse, and every tourist and sportsman is known along the trails to the guides, boatmen and innkeepers. No man could carry a human body to that remote spot save upon the back of a horse, and no mysterious horseman or other person was reported from any part of the district. The manner in which the body had made its appearance in the midst of the mountains was as much of a mystery to the people there as the means by which it had been removed from Poughkeepsie was to Detective Brown.

Detective Brown had known Mr. Baldwin, and as soon as he saw the body he was convinced of its identity. Accordingly he sent a courier with a telegram to Chief Kipley, and hired two men and two horses to help him carry the remains to Saratoga. They arrived here at three o'clock this afternoon, and there was a sad scene when our party from Poughkeepsie were admitted to the undertaker's rooms to view the body. Every one at once recognized in the broken and mangled mass of flesh handsome, manly Sylvester Baldwin. Professor Stone was greatly agitated when he beheld the features of his college chum and best friend, and Miss Davidge uttered a cry of pain and would have swooned had not Mrs. Jones led her away.

The face of the deceased is natural. In one of the front teeth is a gold filling just such as Mr. Baldwin had in one of his front teeth. The silken pajamas are precisely like Mr. Baldwin's, and, moreover, his initials "S. B." are embroidered upon a little linen tag under the neck. The name of the maker, a Boston firm, is there, too. Still stronger proof of the identity of the remains, if any were needed, is found in the fact that in a pocket of the pajamas was discovered a locket containing a miniature of Miss Irene Davidge.

There is, therefore, not the slightest doubt whatever that this is the body of Sylvester Baldwin. There can be no doubt, either, that he was murdered. But how and by whom? And above all, how was his body carried, in six or seven hours, some two hundred miles from his room in the manor house at Glen Echo to that lonely spot in the mountains, to reach which a journey of two days and nights is required, even under the most favorable circumstances?

It cannot be possible that the body which we have here is that of another man. It is beyond reason to suppose that there was a simultaneous disappearance of two men, both wearing silken pajamas exactly alike, the two men resembling one another in figure, face, color of eyes and hair, teeth and everything as closely as if they were twins, both bearing the initials "S. B." and both carrying in their pockets a miniature of Miss Irene Davidge, of New York

Every one is greatly depressed, not only on account of Mr. Baldwin's sad fate, but by the inexplicable mystery surrounding the dreadful tragedy. The police and the detectives are without even a theory. The doctors and professors who have carefully examined the body and subjected parts of its raiment to microscopic tests are without any explanation, however shadowy and unsatisfactory. Have the Black Arts been revived, or must we ascribe this most extraordinary tragedy to the working of some modern miracle?

This is the strange story my curiosity had unearthed from the recesses of my dead kinsman's trunk. You will now see why I am sorry I disobeyed the injunction which I found written upon the blue packet. The tale which these old newspaper clippings tell has rung in my ears and whirled about in my brain, robbing me of sleep and making me nervous and restless. I have searched the old trunk again and again for further light upon it, but without success. I have had a feeling that somehow or other I must discover the dread secret, for this tragedy was in my family. Not only did it occur, or at least have its beginning, in the house of one of my kinsmen, but, now that the circumstances have been brought so strikingly to my attention, I recall that my relation, Professor Stone, married the Miss Davidge who figures in the story, lived with her in happiness for many years, and reared a fine family of boys and girls. Though I had never known either Professor Stone or his wife, Mr. Henry Stone, their brother, who left to my charge the fateful trunk, has told me of the professor's successful and useful career and happy home life.

But all my efforts have been unavailing. I am unable to find a clue or even to evolve a satisfactory theory. I can only give my readers the facts and leave them to struggle with the problem, as I have struggled.

POSTSCRIPT. — The foregoing was written some months ago. Meanwhile I have made strenuous efforts to throw off the strange fascination which this mystery has exerted upon me — to stop thinking and worrying about it; but to no purpose. It has continued to harass me. To-day, feeling more desperate than usual, I went up to the garret with a hatchet and a big knife, determined to cut the old trunk to pieces in order to discover if its shell contained any clue to the mystery. Underneath the lining in the bottom I found a letter apparently no more than five or six years old, which read as follows: —

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20, 1892.

My dear Brother Henry: — I am writing this letter to you with my own hand, despite my physical weakness. It is the last letter I shall ever write to you, for I know my end is fast approaching. The doctor tells me I shall recover, but he cannot deceive me.

I have, as you know, led a busy, a useful, a successful life. My inventions have brought me distinction and reward. There is only one thing in my career which I regret, and even that does not fill me with much remorse. Once there came to me a moment in which all that life seemed to promise me — all happiness, success, and ambition — were involved in a struggle for mastery between two men — myself and another.

It is the law of nature that when two forces come in collision the weaker must give way. Nature has thus established the principle of the survival of the fittest, the dominance of the superior over the inferior. It matters not whether the struggle comes between planets or molecules, men or animals, nations or tribes, the law is the same. No man can be above the law of his being and his surroundings; it is his right and duty to work out his salvation within the sphere and under the principles which nature has ordained.

And yet in my case that which I had to do was extremely disagreeable. I had to remove a man from my pathway. One or the other had to suffer a most grievous loss, a fatal disappointment; and when this clash of interests came I had the right, under nature's laws, to defend myself. The man whose life crossed mine, and whom it was necessary for me to remove, was my best friend, and, for the moment, my guest. These circumstances added to the unpleasantness of my task, but did not deprive me of my right of self-preservation — a right which exists in every living thing, from the humblest to the highest, and whose exercise nature restricts only with limitations of power.

You may wonder, brother, why I write these words. I write them because it is not in my nature to die with my secret untold. All these years I have carried it alone, absolutely alone. An impulse which I can neither describe nor control leads me to share my secret with just one human soul; and of course he can be none but you, my dearest friend and brother, who has shared all his secrets with me.

You will recall all the circumstances of the tragedy which happened at our house in Glen Echo shortly after I left college and while you were in Europe. We have often talked them over in the past, and you, like every one else, tried to solve the mystery. If you had only known what I knew!

I loved Irene Davidge before Sylvester Baldwin did. Before he and she met at our house I was passionately devoted to her. I made up the house party for the purpose of providing a good opportunity to press my suit, which I knew was not unpleasing. Before she returned home I had confidently expected she would be my promised wife. But from the first day she met Baldwin I knew my star was setting and his was in the ascendant. He was rapid and prosperous in his love-making, and I was forgotten. In a week they were lovers. One day I saw him kiss her as they stood behind some rose bushes in the garden. Had I not been a philosopher, a man of cool, calm reasoning, I should have killed him there and then.

But you know my self-possession, my absolute control of self, my favorite theory that he who can master himself can master the world. All that night I reasoned it out with myself. My conclusions, which to me then, as now, appeared logical, were as follows:—

1. Without her my life is ruined, as I know myself well enough to know I shall never love again.

2. If he lives she will be his, and I, the superior man in all save those superficial qualities which attract the other sex, shall be the loser in life's battle.

3. Nature has ordained that the superior shall triumph, and therefore I have the right to remove him from my way.

4. If I do remove him, in proper fashion, she will be mine, as she would have been mine had he not come between us. Therefore his removal will give me that which I must have.

Conclusion: I will remove him.

Action being determined upon, it only remained to decide the means. It was necessary that everything should be done in a prudent and orderly way. There must be no danger of discovery or even of suspicion being fastened upon me, for of course that would defeat the purpose in view. To obviate the possibility of pain or humiliation to our dear mother, or to you, my brother, was as much my duty as to protect the mind of Miss Davidge from being poisoned against me. Therefore it was necessary to proceed only after thorough consideration of all the possibilities. A minor point, but still one worthy of attention, was that I should not be compelled to do any actual butchering with my own hands, nor have any gruesome scenes about me. Even in this supreme moment, when I was successfully to work out my destiny or utterly ruin myself, I could not overlook the fact that I was a gentleman. Nor could I take the risk of employing a confederate.

In a few hours my plans were laid. I hope you will agree with me that they were laid with judgment, skill, and thoroughness, as became a man of science and self-possession. Fortunately I had in my laboratory all the materials needed for my operations. But there was much work to do. Day and night I toiled up there on the roof of the old house, where you and I afterward passed so many happy hours while perfecting my inventions. I absented myself as much as possible from the house party, in part because I could not endure seeing him and her together, and in part because I needed all the time for my preparations. During a period of one hundred hours I took only as much sleep as one ordinarily gets in twenty-four.

At last I was ready. I remember that it was Sunday noon, just after services, that I tested my work, reviewed all my calculations, and found that nothing had been neglected. After dinner in the evening I spent some time with the party in the dining-room, and the loving glances exchanged between Sylvester and Irene were more endurable to me than they had hitherto been. Excusing myself about nine o'clock, I went upstairs. Entering Baldwin's room, I struck a match and found the book which he was engaged in reading. It was "Horace's Odes," from my library. I knew Sylvester's habit of reading for an hour before going to sleep — he formed it in college. Opening the volume to the bookmark, I turned over six pages and inserted there this note which I had prepared: —

Dear Sylvester: — If you are not too sleepy when you find this, come up to the laboratory. I have something important to show you. E. S.

I calculated that it would take him a quarter of an hour to read from his bookmark to my note, and I felt sure he would come, as he had displayed much interest in my experiments, and had complained because of late I had admitted him so rarely to the laboratory. My only fear was that, in the time which I had given him, not all of the other people in the house would be asleep, as I naturally did not want any one to know he had visited me. At the same time I dared not place the note farther on in the book, lest he should not reach it before falling asleep himself. Of course I could have deferred the removal till another night, but now wind and weather favored, and I courted no delays.

He came a few moments before eleven o'clock. I was ready for him.

"Sylvester," said I, "here is a machine I have built for experimental purposes, and I want you to help me test it."

"All right, Edwin," he replied; "what is it now?"

"A new gas-holder, made of silk," said I; "and here is some of the new gas. Take a good whiff of it—it is like wine in the nostrils."

He took the metal flask which I handed him, turned the cock, and in a moment or two fell insensible at my feet. I had filled the flask with a combination of chloroform and hydrogen, under pressure, and when the cock was turned a cloud of most powerful anæsthetic fumes burst into his face.

Now I was master of the situation. First I locked the door leading to the floor below. I noted with satisfaction that he had brought my note with him, thus saving me a perilous trip down to his room after it. I burned it in my furnace. A look at the anemometer showed a wind movement of thirty miles an hour, and I was glad to see that the barometer was still falling. If it had been possible for a man of my temperament to have faltered in a set purpose, the sight of the locket containing Irene's portrait, which had fallen from the breast pocket of his pajamas as he fell, would have served to nerve me for my task.

With your knowledge of my thoroughgoing methods, dear brother, you will easily imagine how carefully I had planned everything. Sylvester's exact weight I had ascertained by a casual inquiry a few days before to be one hundred and fifty-three pounds. I assumed that he would come to me without stopping to dress, for he was hardy and athletic, and proud of his ability to endure exposure — an important point on account of the nicety of my calculations. The weight of the gas-bag was eighteen pounds, and of its lines and netting, five pounds; total, one hundred and seventy-six pounds. By careful test I had found the weight of my gas — it was nearly pure, dry hydrogen — was eighty thousandths of an ounce per cubic foot; and as air weighs one and two tenths ounces per foot, I had a net power of fully one and one tenth ounces per foot. The gas-bag was spherical, and a little more than eighteen feet in diameter, giving it a capacity of three thousand one hundred and fifty cubic feet, equal to two hundred and seventeen pounds lifting force.

It was necessary to have a little margin, to compensate for loss of gas by leakage. Careful calculations of the rarity of the atmosphere at various altitudes showed me the bag with the burden would at first ascend to a height of about five thousand six hundred feet, where there would be an exact counterbalance of the weight of air displaced and the weight of the apparatus and its burden. Then it would slowly descend as the gas escaped from the bag. It was, of course, desirable that it should at first ascend to a great altitude, as that would prevent its being seen by any one who might be astir. It was quite as desirable that the whole machine should remain in the air at least six hours, that it might be carried a proper distance away. At the same time, it must drop its burden before daylight — before any one could see it and perchance understand its dread significance.

It was highly important, too, from my view-point, that the body should be found sooner or later, and be unmistakably identified; otherwise Irene might take it into her pretty head to do the romantic by waiting year after year for the possible reappearance in life of her absent lover, which would be decidedly unpleasant for me. Hence I did not dare to arrange to send the apparatus out to sea, as I might easily have done. For the same reason I replaced in the pocket of Sylvester's pajamas the locket with Irene's miniature in it which had fallen from it.

It was absolutely necessary that the apparatus and its burden should not be found together, for in that case it would be easy to trace the two to a common source, — to wit, my laboratory, — thus defeating the purpose in view. To obviate this danger I had made careful experiments in the effect of various acids upon fibers, and was able accurately to determine the time in which a given quantity of diluted vitriolic acid would eat away a cord of given strength so that it would part under the strain of a weight of one hundred and fifty-six pounds. By this means I made sure that the apparatus and its burden should be separated before daylight, the latter to fall to earth, and the former, relieved of its incubus, to ascend to the skies and fly perhaps a thousand miles before coming down.

Such a cord, twisted with acid and timed to sustain the load just six hours, I tied about the waist of Sylvester and made fast to the netting underneath the gas-bag.

The moment had come. Carefully I looked all about from the roof to see that no one was watching my operations, and noted with satisfaction that the night was extremely dark and in all respects favorable to my purpose.

At quarter past eleven o'clock, Sunday evening, October 18, I took Sylvester's living right hand in mine and pressed it with a farewell greeting. Then with three rapid slashes of my knife I cut the guy-ropes and my little balloon, with the body of my rival dangling beneath it, darted upward and northward into the gale.

Your affectionate brother,

EDWIN STONE.

Such was the secret of Sylvester Baldwin's death. Was it to be expected that anything less than the diabolical craft and ingenuity that brought it to pass should penetrate its mystery?

Bumblepuppy on the Range.

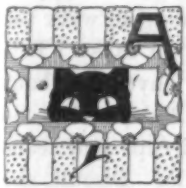
BY EDWARD BOLTWOOD.



A FEELING of desperation pervaded the home ranch of the Three X outfit in South Dakota. Although it was the time of the gathering of the hands for the beef round-up, which was regarded as a mere pleasure excursion up and down the Belle Fourche in the cool days of September, the usually festal occasion seemed to be darkened by the shadow of a great grief. The boys were depressed. They sulked at meal times. They did not tell stories at night. It wasn't because they were underpaid, although this was undoubtedly true. The reason, as Shorty Garr expressed it, was that they were "locoed by the Britisher."

Mr. Horace Peddie, Q. C., the managing director of the Scotch syndicate which owned the Three X, was making his first inspection of the property. Mr. Peddie had examined the company's lands in South Africa, and intended to make a clean job of it by looking over the American ranch also. His coming had been awaited by his hosts with much anticipatory pleasure, but his actual arrival had been followed by bewilderment and a stinging sense of defeat, and John Heffren, Shorty Garr, and the bookkeeper talked it over one evening while they smoked their pipes on the cook-house steps.

"As the old man said," remarked Mr. Heffren, "before this Peddie hit the ranch; 'Tain't no harm,' says he, 'to make him think he's struck a hot crowd. His letters is full of yarns and advice from South Africa, and I'm sick of 'em. Bring around your buckin' bronks,' says the old man, 'and pack your guns and we'll make him think this 'ere western country,' says he, 'is a darned sight wilder than any South Africa on the map. Make it warm for him,' says he, 'and he'll say we sure ought to be paid big for livin' in such a tough place.' And, I put it to you, Tompkins, ain't we done our best?"

The bookkeeper nodded.

"Best?" inquired Garr, disconsolately; "I'll bet we have. The first turn out of the box was when I caught up Hot Biscuit for this e-squire to ride down to the hay camp. Now, Biscuit ain't what you'd call bad, you know,—just loony. So I leads the pony around to the office, and there was Peddie dressed up in tight white pants and shiny boots, like he was going to walk the slack wire. He spots me looking at his rig, and he says: 'This is the way we ride in Pretory.' I don't know anything about Pretory, but men have been shot for less in the Bad Lands. So he gets on the horse and puts his toes in the stirrups and leans over Biscuit's neck, like he had a pain in his inside. Biscuit, she slides down a mud bank and turns head over heels, not knowin' what to make of the heft on her shoulders. 'My word!' says Peddie, wiping the gumbo out of his eyes, 'do you ride those brutes every day?' 'Sure,' I says, thinking to get a raise of pay without showing cards. 'By Jove!' he says. 'It's lucky that wasn't a South African pony. When horses over there throw a man they try to eat him up!' I went behind the corral, and I says to myself—"

"Never mind what you said," interrupted the bookkeeper judiciously. "Why didn't you make a play with a forty-five?"

"Listen to me," said Heffren. "I was lopin' down the creek with this English feller day before yesterday. I'd heard the boys claim nobody could get a start out of him, and I thinks, 'John, you are the man for this job, even if you have to make him smell powder.' We came along through Sandy Bottom, him and me, where the box elders is thick and the trail narrer. All of a sudden I begin to look fierce, and cuss, and spy into the underbrush like I see somethin' bad. Then I pulls the gun, and pumps six shells at the trees, swearin' and tearin' and leatherin' my horse. We ran our ponies up on to the rise, and then he said: 'Let's go back and skin 'em.' 'Skin who?' says I. 'Those rabbits,' said he. 'Rabbits!' says I. 'Them was the Powder River gang, and they're on the kill.' 'Well,' says he, 'let's go back and skin them. They do that sort of thing most every day in South Africa.' And I couldn't say a dum word."

Garr resumed the mournful tale. "We gave him a meal," said

Shorty, "over to the horse camp. Raw onions and bacon sliced lengthwise — all fat. He said that was the kind of grub they saved for sick hands in the Welt or some such place. Now, I ask you, Tompkins, how can we turn the hair of a Comanche like him?"

"Poker," said the bookkeeper.

"He says," Heffren replied, with a hopeless air of weariness, "that the only cards he ever plays is whist, and at home he has follered that game every night for twenty years."

"Oh, that kind, is he?" said Tompkins, meditatively. "Well, we'll give him a whirl."

It happened that Mr. Peddie was decidedly "that kind." Whist was his religion, Cavendish his Bible, and his club knew no more constant devotee of the silent game.

That night four men sat about a card table in the office — Mr. Peddie, Q. C., John Heffren, Tompkins, and Joe Robinson, the foreman. A pair of gaudily painted lamps illumined the cozy room; pipes and cigars were in full blast, and a bottle and glasses were placed in hospitable proximity to the players. Everything foreshadowed an enjoyable evening, but the deliberate solemnity of the Americans would betray to any one but a stranger the existence of a momentous plot.

"Who'd expect," said the Englishman, "to have a quiet rubber on a cattle ranch? By Jove! it's luxurious, it's effeminate. In South Africa the wild devils are not beyond checkers."

"Fifty-three," announced Tompkins, thumping down the last of a pack of cards. "All set. Heffren, it's you and I against 'em."

Mr. Peddie lifted his eyebrows in incredulous inquiry.

"Fifty-three?" said he. "Is that right — for whist?"

"Certainly," Tompkins replied, without blushing. "Fifty-two and the joker. It's your deal, Mr. Peddie."

"What are we playing for?" growled Robinson. "The same old thing?"

"Sure," said Heffren, laying a revolver on the table. "What did you suppose — soap?"

"Well, I wanted to know beforehand," Robinson replied, sticking an unsheathed bowie in his belt, "so's I wouldn't be caught afoot when the cattle is running."

These manifestations did not escape the Londoner, and he looked furtively at his partner. Tompkins was critically inspecting the edge of an axe, which he finally laid on the floor under his chair, and the deal was hastily finished.

"Look here, you know," said Mr. Peddie, "there's a card left over."

"That's the trump," said Robinson. "Where did you learn this game?"

Mr. Peddie gasped and Tompkins led the king of diamonds. The foreman promptly played a spade.

"No diamonds, partner?" asked Peddie, in the most silky and approved across-the-table voice.

"Yes," Robinson answered in apparent surprise, "a few."

"But you didn't play one, you know."

"Well," interposed Tompkins, contemplating the handle of his axe, "it's his own hand. Let him play it."

"Perhaps you don't understand the great American improvements in this game," said Robinson politely. "You see you don't have to follow suit unless you want to."

"And all ties go to the Kitty," volunteered Heffren, slapping down the joker and pulling in a trick.

"It makes a pretty game," Robinson added. "You'll like it."

Like it! The unhappy club man could not have been tortured more effectively by the rack of the Inquisition. He was like a devoted monk, forced to be present at the desecration of a cathedral by a horde of barbarians. The politeness of a guest, backed by the impressive exhibition of weapons, stifled his protests, but the Chancellor of England could not have felt so outraged if he had been tied to his wool sack and compelled to witness a game of tag in the House of Lords. It was not even bumblepuppy. It was like a game from "Alice in Wonderland." When Robinson claimed that "Big Casino" outranked the ace, Mr. Peddie writhed in silent anguish. When Heffren, at the end of a hand, proceeded to add the points on the cards "to see who had game," Mr. Peddie's horrified eyes blinked rapidly with emotion. But when Tompkins told him that it was the leader's privilege to play two cards at once in order to guard against emergencies, Mr. Peddie staggered to his feet and gesticulated violently.

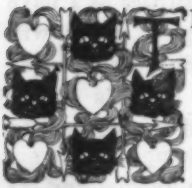
"Gentlemen," he cried, "I have been in rough places before. I have been in the hardest land and among the hardest people in the world. I refer to South Africa." Heffren groaned. "But," continued Peddie, "never have I seen such barbarities as I have witnessed to-night, and, by the Lord Harry, I hope I never will again! Men who do such things will do anything, by George! This country may be all right to make money in, but it's not fit to live in. Mr. Robinson, by Jove, sir! you'll find my bag packed in the morning."

Far into the night the conspirators celebrated the sagacity of the bookkeeper. "Good enough to play whist with Peddie" is now the highest compliment which can be paid a card-player at the Three X.

The Transformation of Mrs. Dwight's Son-in-law.

BY LOUISE S. TODD.



THE window was open a little at the bottom and the warm spring breeze blew fitfully in upon the occupant of the low rocking chair.

It was one of those late April days when the buds show in tiny green spots on the blackened tree branches, when the grass begins to look fresh despite the brown patches which occur at intervals as though to prove that the brightness is only premature after all, and that summer is still far away.

One of those days when the warm air steals into one's veins and stirs all the youthfulness there, even that left in decrepit old age, filling one with something of former fervor and a desire to accomplish seemingly impossible ends; when the middle-aged fancy themselves young once more and start forward gaily to do battle with the world, with a reflection of youth's vigor, only to discover that middle age, after all, holds them in chains and refuses to release them from bondage.

Something of these feelings without the inevitable conclusion of despair — for as yet she had not put her youthful powers to the test — vibrated through Mrs. Dwight as she swayed to and fro in the low chair by the open window. Her lap was occupied by a pile of men's socks, one of which she held in her hand while her eyes busied themselves in watching the precision with which her fingers wove the thread through and through until the hole was filled with a beautiful, intact piece of embroidery. But her thoughts, impelled by the stirring of youth within her, had strayed to the past, not the far-off past — she never thought of that — but to the past which was the reason of her sitting there darning leisurely at a pile of men's socks.

Directly opposite Mrs. Dwight, on a low table, and where, if she raised her eyes for a moment, she could surely see it, stood a large photograph in a silver frame with doors. The doors stood open. The portrait was one reason; the other was the owner of the socks.

The picture was that of a girl perhaps seventeen, with a purely oval face, framed in fair, wavy hair; with great dark eyes which looked at the gazer with a certain wistfulness almost pathetic, were it not contradicted by a sweet, tender mouth which seemed about to smile and which suggested a dimple in hiding at the corner. A very fair reason, this one; and she had been Mrs. Dwight's daughter.

It had all happened ten years before, and the bright, beautiful story had ended as suddenly as it began. Ah, that beginning! — with lovely, enchanting, spell-weaving Venice for a setting, Venice in spring — how soon to be shadowed by gloomy, cold, dark New York — New York submerged in a rainy winter. And that was all, but the exquisite happiness of a young life lay between.

Mrs. Dwight and her daughter had been traveling for nearly five years, finding that their scanty income was more satisfactorily utilized that way than in trying to live at home. There, in that Venetian spring, Mrs. Dwight had encountered a man from home, a man she had met many years before during her husband's lifetime, who remembered her, and with our usual American affinity became her cavalier forthwith. She had liked him; if she had not, she would quickly have snubbed him in her quiet, ladylike way. As it was, she permitted him to come and see them frequently and make a third to their party on their little jaunts. She never thought of him in any light save that of a kind compatriot, a man of her own age, who had been successful in his business and was using some of the results of that success to see the world. The awakening came when he asked her to give him her daughter — her Virginia.

"I do not ask you to give her up," he had said in his pleasant way, when he saw the quick pallor in her face. "I only ask you to take me in, to let me be your son-in-law." And then he had smiled a little at the absurdity of it — he, who had traveled life's path a year farther than she, asking to be regarded as her son-in-law.

She had accepted him as such when she found that Virginia had given her heart to him with all the intense fervor of a child whose circle of loved ones has been limited. Virginia's mother sometimes wondered even yet if it had been more than a child's affection, if it was what the man demanded.

Then came a blissful two months of travel, when Mrs. Dwight found how pleasant it is to have some one to look after you and take charge of everything, for Mr. Winthrop had accompanied them and insisted upon being their courier. In the fall they had come home, and Mr. Winthrop had urged an early marriage, to which the mother could find no reasonable objection.

"My house is lonely," he had said to her. "I want my wife very much"; and then he had smiled so wistfully at her that she was forced to give way, inasmuch as she was to benefit by the change, too, and have a home once more; so the wedding was fixed for January.

But in December, hardly a month before the wedding, Virginia Dwight died. Oh, the bitterness of it all! They had been obliged to take her away from the apartment where they had secured rooms; in spite of Mr. Winthrop's urgency, Mrs. Dwight would not take Virginia to his house, and there had remained only the hospital.

After Virginia's death, Mr. Winthrop had come to her again, and she was too weak then to combat his arguments; so when he said he was as lonely as she, and that together they must learn to bear their sorrow, she agreed to come and take charge of his house. If she had not been so overcome by her grief she might have stopped to ask what the world would think, but she did not care about it then, and to her surprise, had she been capable of any such feeling, this was one time when the world said nothing. It seemed the natural thing to do; she had assumed in their eyes the position of Mr. Winthrop's mother. But on her arrival in Mr. Winthrop's house she covered her soft, dark hair with a little lace cap.

She was thinking over some of this past while the warm spring air blew in upon her, and her busy fingers continued to weave the threads into the hole in the work in her hands, when from the hallway came the sound of approaching footsteps and the rustle of silken garments. She put her work into the basket and the basket under the table near her; then she stood up to greet her visitor. The rustle came through the door and filled the room as a tall woman swept gracefully forward, clad in all the attractive beauty of a new spring costume.

"How do you, Mrs. Dwight?" she said in the sweetly penetrating tones cultivated by a society woman. "I knew you wouldn't mind my coming right up."

"I am very well, thank you," replied the other, quietly ignoring the last remark. "How pretty you are looking," she added after a moment, but she spoke as though it were an admission she would rather not feel justified in making.

The younger woman, who was perhaps twenty-five or six, flushed a little and looked over her shoulder towards the door.

"Thank you," she said.

Mrs. Dwight knew her better than any other woman in New York, perhaps, for Marion Maybrook had made a point of calling on her very soon after Mr. Winthrop had taken up society again. Even now he did not go out so much as before Virginia had come into his life, yet he was in great demand, for he was still in his prime. A man is never more eligible than when he is in his early forties and has made a tolerable fortune; besides, Mr. Winthrop had such pleasant, deferential ways with women that they all liked him. Virginia's mother did not "go out," but she had returned Miss Maybrook's call, and Marion had taken that for an evidence of her liking, and come frequently ever since. Mrs. Dwight could not have told whether she liked Marion or not; she rather fancied not, since she had heard the rumor that "Marion Maybrook had the inside track with Clarence Winthrop." She had credited this feeling of resentment to a natural protest against any one's taking Virginia's place, and if the younger woman ever noticed any coolness in her manner, she never showed it, but came as often and was just as agreeable.

This afternoon she rattled on in her usual go-aheaditive way, talking of everything that was going on in the outside world, giving little bits of gossip, but through it all hovering around herself as a topic of conversation, as though there were something pleasant to be told concerning her. Marion had a bright way of telling things, which seemed to suit the key she used to talk in, and Mrs.

Dwight, listening with a quiet, interested smile, found her very entertaining, and wondered if others did, too, if men did. There was a restlessness apparent in Marion's manner which was puzzling, and several times she saw her eyes wander to the picture of Virginia, with what she fancied was a pitying curiosity.

Finally she spoke of the house, of its old-fashioned beauty, of the harmony of its decorations, the exquisiteness of the wood carving, and as she talked her eyes were fixed with something like pity on the older woman, whose cheeks flushed — the call seemed to drag endlessly. Marion stayed only an hour, but it seemed three or four before she stood up nervously and said with a quick, indrawn breath : —

" Won't you call me Marion just once, and kiss me as my own mother might ? " She had put her hands on Mrs. Dwight's shoulders — she was a little the taller of the two — and she looked down at her with the same pitying look ; then she stooped suddenly and kissed her cheek with a passionate eagerness. Her own mother was dead, and she lived alone with her father. When she stood up again there were bright tears in her eyes, but her mouth was stern.

" Hasn't Clarence Winthrop told you of the intended change in his life ? " she asked ; then seeing the bewildered look in her companion's face, she stooped again as though to kiss her. Mrs. Dwight drew back coldly.

" Mr. Winthrop tells me whatever it is necessary for me to know," she said icily. " You are going now ? Good afternoon, Miss Maybrook."

" Yes, I must go ; I have an engagement," Marion said hurriedly, a faint flush creeping up her cheek. " Good-by, Mrs. Dwight," and with another look at Virginia's picture she left the room.

Mrs. Dwight stood quite still until she heard the door close behind Marion in the lower hall, then she threw open all the windows, letting in the fresh spring air. It had grown a little cooler and the air had lost its tinge of warmth. She took up Virginia's picture, and leaning close to the open window looked into the dear eyes long and lovingly. The air blew coolingly on the pictured face as well as the living one. The loving scrutiny had lasted several minutes, when she put the photograph back on the table and shut the doors with a quick, passionate gesture.

There was a mirror above the fireplace, and she walked over to it, looking at herself with a frown.

"I am not old," she said to herself at last. "I feel too young; I will not be old."

The white lace caught the light and gleamed snowily. It was the work of an instant to take it off and pull the soft, wavy hair underneath into something like order.

"I am younger now," she whispered half aloud. "It was not merely the spring atmosphere; it was really there all the time, inside me, and this hideous cap made me forget it. Virginia," she added, "I know you will forgive me that your mother must reassert her age here in this house where she came as your husband's mother; but there is another woman now, and I am going to be alone again." Perhaps there was also a thought to which she did not give utterance, but which flushed her cheeks and made her turn away from the mirror; at least she was standing between two of the windows a few moments later when a man came in, and the draught was fanning the loosened hair against her heated cheeks, while the late rays of the afternoon sun shone caressingly on her head.

"Marion has been here, she tells me," the man said, yawning lazily as he came towards her. He was good-looking, though his hair was beginning to turn gray on the temples, and his moustache and beard were tinged in the same way. He was one of the many who make true the affirmation that New York is noted for its fine-looking middle-aged men.

The flush still remained on Mrs. Dwight's cheek, and she felt it burn deeper at this confirmation of her thought concerning Marion's engagement.

"Yes, Marion has been here," she said. Something in her tone made him look at her more sharply, and he saw her flushed cheeks, her tossed hair, and her little cap crushed in her hand.

"What has Marion been saying to you?" he asked, half smiling.

Mrs. Dwight steadied her voice with difficulty. "She tells me you intend making some change in your method of living."

Mr. Winthrop frowned angrily and muttered something under his breath before he answered.

"I do expect to," he said.

"Pray do not hesitate about telling me, Clarence," she returned, trying to control herself. "I still have something to live on, you know, and can leave you at any time when you find your — other arrangements. I can go in a moment, you know."

"But I don't see why it is necessary for you to leave me at all. Everything can go on just as it does now with, of course, this difference —"

"Certainly not," Mrs. Dwight interrupted. "I should not stay to be an encumbrance."

"I don't mean you to stay. I want to ask you to go —"

"I have said I would go, have I not?" she interrupted again.

Mr. Winthrop looked at her in amazement. She who was usually so calm and serene, who waited until he had said what he had to say and then discussed it with him quietly, she now interrupted him, speaking quickly and with evident excitement.

In his astonishment he looked around the room curiously, as though to discover the cause of the change. He saw the windows were wide open, he noted the work-basket, upset, as she hurried through the room to open the windows, the balls of cotton and a white china egg or two tumbling unheeded on the floor. Then his gaze came back to the figure before him. The serenity had depended on the little lace cap, perhaps, and she had thrown them both aside together. He wondered vaguely if she had thrown the former away forever, or if she had crushed it for the time as she had the flimsy bit of lace in her hand.

"Did Marion tell you what the change actually was?" he asked at last, watching her intently. She shook her head. "Then I must tell you myself," he continued. "We have been having trouble with our Chicago agent, and it has become necessary for one of the firm to go out there and look after affairs in person. As I am the least tied down here, the lot has fallen to me. That is what I am going to do."

Mrs. Dwight drew a sigh of relief. Until now she had not realized what it meant to her had he told her what she expected. He heard the sigh.

"What did you think Marion meant?" he asked.

She did not answer, but she drooped her head until her eyes were fastened on the carpet.

"Won't you tell me what you thought, — Gertrude?" He tried to call her "m'Aimée," Virginia's pet name for her and one which he had always used; but that seemed not to belong to the woman who stood before him now. It seemed to have been cast away with her serenity and her cap.

Mrs. Dwight tried to raise her head, tried to look at him, and speak with her old placid calm, but his gentle "Gertrude" disarmed her, and she only could murmur almost incoherently: —

"I thought — she meant — you were going — to be — married." Her voice trailed off in an inaudible whisper.

Mr. Winthrop heard, however, and his face grew deadly pale as he walked over to the window and stood looking out. The air which blew in was much colder now, and he shivered a little; perhaps that was the reason of his putting out his hand to steady himself. It touched the silver frame on the table and lingered there, the fingers closing over it. Then he seemed to feel it and look down. He saw the doors were closed.

Virginia's mother had raised her head, but her eyes were still downcast when Mr. Winthrop spoke to her. "I am going to be married," he said, "if the woman I want will have me."

She raised her eyes and looked at him half startled. "I think she will," she said in a low voice.

"I do not know," he said in the same way. "Will you?"

"I!"— Her voice broke. "I thought you cared for Marion; I am sure she does for you."

"No," he said. "I know she cares for you, and I asked her to come here often, as I thought she would entertain you. I find her interesting, don't you? But I don't want Marion, I want you, Gertrude. Will you go out to Chicago with me as my wife?"

"I would, yes," she said frankly, her serene, loving eyes fixed on his; "but for Virginia —"

The man's fingers loosed their hold on the silver frame.

"Virginia belongs to the past, Gertrude, such a sweet, beautiful past. You and I have our future before us, and though the life we have lived here has suited these last ten years and New York, it will not do for the rest of our lives and Chicago. I cannot live without you, Gertrude, and from now I shall love Virginia as my daughter, since she was yours."

I cannot live without you! That has overcome many arguments, and she had not many to overcome. She was so alone with only the picture of Virginia, and he needed her even as she needed him. But before he came around the table to her, they opened the doors of the silver frame.

The windows were closed when Marion Maybrook came back a half hour later, and Mrs. Dwight was sitting alone in the low rocking chair mending another hole. This mending had been the happiest thing in the past, the one thing she had done exclusively for him, and it belonged to her future, too. The nervousness was still apparent in Marion's manner when she came in, but she forgot it in a little outburst of pleasure.

"How pretty your hair is!" she said. "And you have covered it all these years." Then she knelt down beside the older woman, after a quick glance at the picture on the table, and spoke hurriedly. "I came to tell you something this afternoon, and then my courage gave out. I am engaged to be married. Don't you remember my telling you about Jack Glenshawe? You know it began in Venice, and I hated somehow to tell you because your daughter — Dear Mrs. Dwight, I have no one to be glad with me." Marion's head with its pretty new spring hat was pressed against her companion's shoulder.

The older woman dropped her mending and patted the younger's shoulder tenderly; there were tears in her eyes and in her voice, as well as a great love and pity in her heart for the girl at her side. She did not hesitate about her emotion now.

"My dear," she said very tenderly, "it would only have made you nearer and dearer to me. It would have seemed as though you were taking Virginia's place. Oh, my dear!" Marion had thrown her arms around Mrs. Dwight's neck and was kissing her passionately.

"Every one has been so nice about it," she whispered. "But no one has looked at me as you have done." In a moment or two she stood up and looked again at the picture on the table. "May I?" she said; but without waiting for a reply she had kissed the pictured, smiling lips. "I think I should have loved her," she explained, "but I never dared to speak of her to you."

As she put the picture back on the table, Mr. Winthrop came in.

"Have you told Marion?" he asked. Then as Mrs. Dwight shook her head, flushing a little, he added, "Marion, will you come to a quiet wedding to-morrow noon at St. Mary's? You may not see us again, as we are going south for a few days and then to Chicago. By the way, how did you know I was going out there?"

Marion smiled a little and the color came up into her cheeks. "Jack told me," she said. "He heard it out there."

"Oh! Jack is here, too, isn't he? I forgot I saw you with him a few hours ago Perhaps you had better bring him with you to-morrow."

Marion kissed Mrs. Dwight very tenderly as she said good-by, adding, "I shall see you some day in Chicago."

But before she left the house she came back and called from the doorway, with happy tears sounding through her ringing tones: —

"I am so glad about you two dear people. I always knew you were intended for each other, and was so afraid you would never find it out."

She saw they were standing in the light from the western window, and that Clarence Winthrop's arm lay across Mrs. Dwight's shoulders; but neither she nor they noticed that the wistfully smiling picture of Virginia had fallen face downwards on the table.

The Man from Alaska.

BY LOUIS WESLYN JONES.

POOR little Monsieur François! He leaned against the short counter in the front part of his little restaurant and allowed his tearful gaze to wander out into the street over the boiled crabs, juicy beefsteak, and wine bottles which adorned his show window. One thing was certain, he thought to himself — that, if he would continue as proprietor of the "Louis d'Or French Eating House," assuredly something must be done immediately towards improving business. But what could he do without capital with which to back his operations? Mechanically he opened the cash drawer and peeped in. What he saw couldn't have offered much encouragement, for he closed it quickly, and, with a deep sigh, once more gazed out into the street. After all, he thought, what was the use of longer continuing the everlasting struggle for success? Here he was, with the same little restaurant, in the same little side street, offering to the public the same excellent cooking as when he first started in business fifteen years before — and yet how different was everything now! Many other restaurants had sprung up in the neighborhood, and, alas! there wasn't enough trade to go round.

"Sapristi! San Francisco is filled with eating houses," groaned the little Frenchman, "and so many poor, cheap affairs, too! My old customers have deserted me. What care Americans for good cooking? The American atmosphere affects even my own countrymen, who also pass me by. Bah! they think me old-fashioned; they believe me not fin de siècle. Had I but a thousand dollars what couldn't I do? I would make the "Louis d'Or" so attractive that none could resist it. But alas! I've nothing — nothing. Unless trade improves I must surely close up in another week. I fear that I must ask Pierre and Jean to wait a few more days for their wages — poor, honest fellows, they are the only ones that have stuck by me." And mine host had hard work to keep back those glistening, rebellious tears.

Just then a cab was driven up alongside the curbstone directly in front of the restaurant.

"Surely it won't stop here," thought François.

But it did stop there; and a big giant of a fellow clambered out of it with a great deal of unnecessary noise, and, handing the driver a five-dollar gold piece, dismissed him and his vehicle. Then the big man, who was dressed in a rough but well-fitting suit of brown Scotch cloth, opened the door of the "Louis d'Or" and stepped inside. He drew a large gold watch from his pocket and noted the time as he inquired in a stentorian voice that admirably suited the rest of his general make-up, "Five o'clock — am I too early for dinner à la carte?"

François answered no — that, although Monsieur was the first guest of the evening, his dinner should certainly not be delayed, nor in any way inferior, on that account.

"Good!" shouted the big man, seating himself at the large table in the middle of the room. "If you're ready, why then, by George! I am, too. Bring on your menu."

Pierre at once appeared with the bill of fare. Faithful Pierre! — he was the only waiter left now. But then, as François had argued, such a modest little restaurant with such a very slender patronage didn't require more than one waiter.

The big stranger's large blue eyes swept the cardboard at a glance. Then he stroked his luxurious brown beard and bellowed enthusiastically: "Who says there's another such place in all 'Frisco as the 'Louis d'Or'? Damn your bespangled and bemirrored cafés, say I! Give me good eating in a tiny shop like this, where you pay your honest money for honest cooking and honest wines, and not for a lot of devilish clap-trap rubbish!"

François's face showed uncertainty. Was this big chap drunk, or fooling, or really sincere? The guest seemed to read his host's thoughts, for he added immediately: —

"Oh, I mean just what I say! I'm not one of your confounded joshers, and I'm not under the influence, either. To tell the plain, unvarnished truth, I've had nothing to eat and nothing to drink for twenty-six hours. Oh, I've been preparing for this feast, I can tell you!"

François's face showed worriment. Could the big chap pay for his dinner? Had he any money, that he had starved so long? Again were his thoughts apparently read by the first guest of the evening, who went on to say: "Don't you be afraid for an instant that I'm unable to settle my bill. Why, dang it all, man! I'll not only pay, but I'll pay better than you were ever paid in your life before!" And he whacked a bulging leathern wallet down on the table with such force that the water-bottle was almost upset. "And now, waiter," he continued, "bring on the soup."

"What kind of soup, sir?" asked the interested Pierre.

"All kinds," replied the big man.

"Very well, sir"; and Pierre went about his duty with a puzzled expression on his brow, while Monsieur François pinched his leg under the counter to make sure of his wakefulness.

While Pierre was gone, the stranger improved the time by carefully studying the bill of fare, and marking with a blue pencil the dishes that especially appealed to him. When the waiter returned he brought with him an immense tray containing six dishes of soup of various kinds, which he proceeded to arrange in a semicircle on the table before the big man.

"Ah!" exclaimed the latter gentleman, "this is what I call bully!" And he sampled each soup in turn, beginning at the right-hand side and taking them in rotation. "Now, when they are ready, bring on the fish."

"What kind of fish, sir?"

"All kinds."

Pierre's eyes sought his master's, but he could gain no additional intelligence from the stupid look on François's countenance.

"Very well, sir," mechanically said Pierre, and started off.

"And the wine, too," called the guest.

"What kind, sir?" Pierre stopped to inquire from the doorway.

"All kinds," was the hearty reply; and Pierre disappeared with a reverential bow.

The stout gentleman appeared to be delighted with the soups, and was not at all backward in expressing his satisfaction.

"This consommé is grand!" he declared, nodding approvingly at François, "and so are these other three, but when it comes to downright epicurean excellence, I'm thinking, by George! that it's a stand-off between the tomato-bisque and the mock-turtle."

And he fell to with renewed vigor, and did justice to each one of the six.

Then Pierre reappeared with his immense tray, loaded down with boiled salmon, fried flounder, broiled boned smelts, and other palate ticklers from the sea, which soon were being devoured by the hungry guest with many manifestations of pleasure.

"Don't forget the wines," he managed to say between mouthfuls, as the waiter vanished with the empty soup dishes.

The wines were soon at hand — pint bottles of fine old claret, Burgundy and Riesling, and the big man finished them all, together with most of the fish, while François and Pierre looked on with growing interest and wonder.

"And now," cried the banqueter, with undaunted enthusiasm, "let's have everything that I've marked with the blue pencil," and he tossed the cardboard to the waiter. "And, by the way, have you any extra dry champagne? Well, bring me a half-dozen bottles — the finest you have."

There's no use going further into details regarding that dinner. Let it be sufficient to say that no one human being, before or since, ever consumed a greater amount of food and drink at one sitting than did that lone guest at the "Louis d'Or." To remark that François and Pierre were amazed is to say too little — they were appalled, paralyzed, for in all their experience they had seen nothing like it. François made up his mind that, at all events, the big chap must and should be humored; Pierre couldn't even make up his mind — it was beyond him.

While the stranger was finishing his dessert, a few old customers dropped into the restaurant for their usual evening meal, and the waiter was compelled to divide his attention and services between them and the stout gentleman. When the newcomers observed the numerous empty dishes and wine bottles on the table in front of the lone banqueter, they all stopped to gaze in astonishment at such an unusual spectacle. Oblivious of all the excitement he was causing, that gentleman finished his black coffee and cognac with a flourish, and then, rising noisily to his feet, announced in a loud voice that he was through.

"All except," he added with emphasis, "the toast. My friends, pardon me for interrupting you at the very beginning of your dinner, but I have three bottles of champagne left — the best, by the way, that ever warmed the heart — and I want you all to join me in drinking — the toast."

The newcomers all signified their willingness to partake of the wine at the expense of the liberal gentleman, and Pierre was ordered to fill all glasses.

"Yours also, mine host," called out the banqueter, with a low bow to François. "And yours, too, waiter."

And so both proprietor and servant joined the party with well-filled bumpers, in spite of François's protest that it was a very unusual proceeding.

"By George!" suddenly shouted the stout man, "I nearly forgot the cook. Oh, say, let's have the cook by all means."

And the wondering Jean was brought forth into the world from the mysteries of his kitchen amid general applause, and was given a large goblet of sparkling champagne.

"And now, my friends," continued the big man, his good-natured face all aglow, "allow me to explain the origin of the toast which we are about to drink. Just a year ago this month a poor, proud devil, who had failed in business, came here to 'Frisco without a penny in his pocket. For three long, dreary days he walked the streets of this town, seeking employment, without a bite of food to eat. On the evening of the third day he found a ten-cent piece in a gutter. He was so devilish hungry that he must have been a little out of his head, for, strange as it seems, he felt that nothing on earth would satisfy his outraged appetite but raw oysters. Oh, I know it sounds funny, but just wait till you are dying of that terrible sickness, starvation, and then see how it affects you — no two men alike, I swear. Well, gentlemen, this unhappy chap went from restaurant to restaurant in a dazed sort of way, trying to get ten cents' worth of oysters with salt and pepper, and lemon on 'em, but in every place he was laughed at, and sneered at, and was turned away, until he happened into a tiny French cook-shop in a little side street, where they served him the few oysters as if he were buying a dozen, — with salt, and pepper, and lemon, too, by George! And in one of those oyster shells that starving man found a large pearl. He didn't realize what it was at first, and when a jeweler in Montgomery Street gave him three hundred dollars for it, the shock nearly killed him. The forlorn stranger's good luck dated from his visit to that little French eating-house. He met an old acquaintance that very night, who was bound for the Alaska gold fields, and the two of them made the trip together — and struck it rich! I was that starving man, gentlemen, and this was the restaurant where I got my oysters. And, gentlemen, since I arrived in San Francisco twenty-six hours ago, I've touched neither food nor drink, in order that I might banquet here this evening in a manner befitting the occasion. And I might add that even ordinarily I have the appetite of an ox. I've just finished the grandest feast ever set before man, gentlemen, and I've made out my own bill, which amounts to exactly two thousand and sixty dollars, with a hundred dollars each to waiter and cook as tips — and there's the cash!"

With this the big man laid a great roll of crisp bank bills on the table.

"Don't interrupt," he cried, as François tried hard to speak. "Every dollar of it is due you. And now, gentlemen, up with your glasses!" Every glass was held on high.

"Here's to the 'Louis d'Or' and its proprietor!" roared the big fellow. "May their success increase with each new day."

And every glass was drained.

"Ah, there's my cab now!" the banqueter exclaimed, and before any one could collect his scattered wits, the man from Alaska was out of the door, which, however, was opened immediately while the big, brown head was thrust inside.

"Oh, I say, gentlemen," called out the departing guest, "there are some of my cards," and he tossed a bunch of business pasteboards into the room. "I'm to be married at the Occidental Hotel next Wednesday morning, and I want all of you to come. If you don't," and he winked threateningly at François, "why, damn it all, I'll come back and eat you out of house and home!"

Two Christmas Eves.

BY WILSON S. HENRY.

NUMBER 1, the overland express, had just roared past Granite in its western flight, and Number 17, the fast freight, was reported four hours late, so the agent had four hours of Christmas eve to himself. There was a glowing, soft-coal fire in the whitewashed stove in his snug little office, which threw out welcome heat. The light of a kerosene lamp was subdued by an ornate paper shade, upon which some Louis XV sort of people were doing a gay dance on a green lawn.

The agent at Granite was a tall, good-looking young fellow, with a smooth face that, just now, was so bright that it had to be shaded like the lamp, with a soft felt hat. Observant people who glanced at the Granite depot out of car windows as the train rushed past usually said: "What a dreary life!" or wittily asked each other how any one could exist in such a spot, "a thousand miles from nowhere." Now the fact is, that instead of being "a thousand miles from Nowhere," Granite was just six miles from Everywhere — the place at which all of us try to locate sometime or other.

The Everywhere of this poor devil of an agent was the ranch of one Thompson, and the girl who made it Everywhere was Thompson's daughter. She had made it Somewhere to him for a long time, and very gently, but surely, had it come to be Everywhere. They had taken many long rides and walks over the prairie, that gently undulated away from them with but little topographical interruption for hundreds of miles in every direction. His love for her had grown to accord with this vast expanse of landscape, until it filled all the vista, from the hills that narrowed into a cañon in the east, to the far, high mountains in the west. And so, because it was a great, vigorous, outdoor love, he had found it hard to tell her of it by word of mouth, though he often felt that just a little word would do it all, so nearly did her thoughts seem to run with his, and so knowing were her dark eyes.

This Christmas eve he told her all about it on paper. With an absurd idea of doing justice to the thing, he filled both sides of ten sheets — the Railway Company's own private paper — and then, in despair, he had put it all into three lines. He finally compromised on two pages of what was really, from a literary standpoint, an admirable specimen of condensation. It was to be sent out with some Christmas gifts, brought out for him from Cheyenne by the obliging conductor of Number 3.

For Her mother there was a Scotch plaid shawl of florid design.

For Her father there was an elegantly bound morocco volume of five hundred gilt-edged leaves, entitled, "The Horse; His Diseases," with a spirited gilt horse, remarkably free from disease, cavorting upon the cover.

For Her there was a "hand-painted" satin Christmas card. It bore a winter scene that sparkled beautifully with imitation snow. Under it was a pretty verse, so warm with love that it would have melted anything more like snow than diamond dust. The packages were wrapped up and the letter duly addressed.

As he sat waiting for Thompson's man, Whittaker, who had promised to look in after finishing his business at Fleener's store, he gave freedom to his fancy, which threw love-lights ahead and showed him that golden future we all dream of, and which always cheats us by dribbling along, one poor little day at a time, instead of coming all at once, as we promise ourselves it will.

From the confused rattling of the telegraph key his ear suddenly caught the letters "Gn-Gn-Gn-"; his call. He took the following message: —

ROCK CREEK, IDAHO, Dec. 24.

P J. THOMPSON, GRANITE: —

East drift cut ore pipe below fault yesterday. Breast in solid horn silver. Assays forty-one to sixty-four hundred. Old Chute sure.

WARNER.

As he sent back the "O. K." Whittaker and Fleener came in. He arose excitedly with the message in his hand.

"Say," he said, "they've struck it in the old man's claim — found the old vein. Look here — four thousand dollars a ton; how's that for a little Christmas present?"

"The hell you say!" exclaimed Whittaker fervently; "well, I want to tell you right here that I never worked for a whiter man than old Thompson; must be hundreds and thousands there. Holy Smoke, what a strike!"

"More'n likely it'll pinch out 'fore they git in six foot," said Fleener.

"Yes; 'n more'n likely they got fifty million dollars there askin' to be shot down and histed out. He's a dead square man, too. I'll take that telegraph out in a hurry. You got some other stuff to go?" he queried of Andrews; "be quick with it."

"Why, yes; I — here — No, no — nothing else at all."

"Well, so long! I'll skin out with this; it'll paralyze him!"

"Prob'ly ain't nothin' but a blamed pocket," said Fleener. "'Tain't no trick to find good prospecks. What's the matter, under the weather? Ain't feelin' well, eh? Guess I'll go over to th' store'n tell the boys about it."

For a moment Andrews stood still, trying to determine just what calamity had befallen him. He took the three packages and placed them on a table in his little bedroom off the office. He took the letter in both hands, as if to tear it across, but hesitated; then he put it away in the bedroom with the painted satin Christmas card. It was worthless now, like the currency of a conquered nation; but it had once been legal tender for a fortune of dreams.

A little later an operator in the Chief Dispatcher's office at Cheyenne said: "Granite must be getting a Christmas jag on; he broke four times, taking that order for seventeen."

Three days later at the station, Thompson said to Andrews: "Well, we're goin' to get out of this God-forsaken place at last, goin' to travel awhile, and then we'll settle in a civilized country where we can have first-class advantages. There's that daughter of mine has growed up here on the desert and never seen anything. I'm goin' to take her where she can see the proper sort of people and live right among 'em."

"I think she will lead a very happy life," said Andrews.

"Well, it won't be my fault if she don't. We got money now, and she can trot with the best of 'em."

. . . . . .

There was much confusion around the depot the day the Thompsons left. All of Granite was there to see them off, and twenty people can make quite a stir. Martha was sprightly and vivacious, and her pretty, tanned face was rich in color.

"Good-by, Hugh," she said, and she clasped his hand tightly and tried to look into his eyes.

"Good-by, Martha," he said; "I hope you will —"

Whatever it was he hoped, he didn't say it distinctly; it seemed to be something commonplace enough, though. There was a last pressure from her warm little fingers, and she was in the car.

As the train started, she looked out at him with wistful eyes, but his gaze was centered upon an imaginary point a thousand miles or so beyond the farthest mountain peak. For this reason she secluded herself and cried for fifty miles.

All through the long days after they had gone he had ample time to think over his loss. While he really felt it to be irreparable, he still possessed that magnificent delusion Hope, which was always reiterating a lot of nonsense to him. In the hot summer days, when the sun blistered the little red wooden building and every green thing died under its heat, his love was only seasoned by it. And when winter came again and dressed the earth in swan's-down and snowy, spangled tights for its Christmas pantomime, the biting blasts only made his love more hardy.

His hope was really not impractical. It comprised simply: the sudden loss of P. J. Thompson's entire fortune through unwise speculation, complete failure of the mine in which he still retained an interest, and the immediate return of the family, in comparative poverty, to Granite. That would bring Her back — his own little Martha of the old days, with her plain dresses and pretty ways; her deep eyes, her soft brown hair, and her little hands that could hide so easily in his. He felt that if she should come back that way he could tell her of his love.

Then there would come days when those foolish hopes that lure lovers from reason would fail him, and he would grow low-spirited and morose. At such times Fleener would come across the track from the store and cheer him up.

"'Tain't money as makes people easy in this here world," he would remark sententiously. "I know folks with thousands of dollars, et ain't reely any better off'n I be." Mr. Fleener's time was chiefly occupied in sitting in front of his store and meditating cynically. Mrs. Fleener boarded the section-men.

"Now jest take that Thompson girl, fer egsample," he said one day; "she'll prob'ly git married to a damned prince er a dook, er some of that riffraff, that's what American girls with money does these times, 'n they git led a dog's life, too; the titles, 'n glory, 'n striped uniforms, 'n hemlets is what ketches 'em every time. My wife's third cousin, Blivens by name, — Homer J. Blivens, — made a pile of money on a paten' right; then his girl up 'n married a furrin' nobleman right away. They'r livin' in a kind of stone palace in Injia, with whole passels of people to wait on 'em, 'n wearin' special clothes fer it."

There was no good reason to doubt the truth of this narrative except the fact that Mr. Fleener was a notorious liar.

Toward the end of the second year after the Thompsons' departure Mr. Fleener sauntered into the office one day.

"Ain't heard the news yit, eh?" he asked Andrews. "Well, Moss Brothers down to Hailey has got a contrak to put up a house fer Thompson, out on the ranch, an' they're comin' back here to live. Mebbe we'll board some of the workers."

"What's that? When are they coming — soon?"

"Oh, I d'no; sometime, I guess. They'll prob'ly have a big one, with blines and coop'los and marble chimleys onto it; 'n they'll most likely have gorgeous furnishins inside — cookoo clocks, 'n music boxes, 'n bristles carpets. Some 'a them carpets 's got bristles that long," he added, indicating about eighteen inches.

It was the second Christmas Eve. Number 1 seemed to wheeze and grumble to itself at having to stop at a place like Granite long enough to let three people off. But there they were on the platform, and Andrews welcomed them.

"Whittaker won't be along 'til about nine," he said; "it's a bad night for the horses, and the train was an hour late at three."

"Mother has a bad headache; may she lie down in your room until John comes?" It was Martha. Her hand was white now, but as firm of clasp as ever. Her face was paler, but her eyes were the same. The most striking change was in her waist. Its lines had been emphasized by a cunning artificer in dress, and some latent curves had been developed. She said she was glad to see him again, and went to rub her mother's head with camphor.

"You haven't got an extry pipe, have you, Andrews?" Thompson asked. He was quickly supplied with one, which he filled and smoked eagerly. "That's real smoke," he said; "and you can't get it out of cigars, either. Well, I'm glad to get back to God's country again; back where you can see a hundred miles, and get all the clean air you want to breathe, and don't have to dodge shiny carriages. No more travel for me, my boy. Of course I couldn't get out of it at first — you know how the wimmen folks pester a man; but they'll be contented here, now. We been all over Chicago, and London, and It'ly, and Paree, as they call it. They're too small and crowded, and slow, too; they don't get to dinner 'til supper time, and then they bring you a little dab at a time — tabble dote that is. I didn't stand it long; I'd jest have 'em bring me a good porterhouse steak, with plenty of fat on it, and some fried potatoes, and a piece of pie. A man wants to see jest what he's got to eat, and not have a lot of fricaseed truck run in on him after he thinks he's down to cases. They don't know how to use money, either. Why, in Noo York they give you pennies in change; and when you get a bill changed, do you think they give you good hard silver dollars that you can feel? Not much! They lay out a lot of greasy one-dollar bills; I got fifteen or sixteen of the mis'able little things in my pockets this minute, and —"

"Hugh!" It was Martha's voice, calling him from the doorway. He had thought her pale at first; now two bright spots of color glowed on her cheeks, and her eyes were unnaturally bright. He stepped quickly into the little room. She closed the door and stood with her back against it, facing him with a look of accusation. He saw that her mother was asleep on his bed. She spoke in low but excited tones, and it seemed to him she was making an effort to keep from laughing — or crying, was it?

"Hugh, you're not a fit man to be in a position of trust. You've been false to my best friend, and I'm going to do something about it — I think I ought to write to the Government."

She had held one hand behind her; she put it forward now, and in it was that old letter he had written to her. "I was looking through your scrap-book and I found it — and I — I read it."

Through a glare of light he saw the two unfolded sheets. He made a quick step forward and grasped the hand that held them.

"It was that night two years ago, Martha, and just after I'd written it, the message came about the mine. I was afraid to send it then — it wouldn't have looked well, and your father said so much about your meeting the right sort of people."

"You were a coward, Hugh." There was scorn, and something else, in her glance that seemed to draw all the nerves in his body to the hand that grasped hers. "You didn't dare send it, and you forgot me in a little while, and I — I wanted that letter."

"No, no, Martha, I never forgot — never for a day nor an hour — I love you for always — Martha."

The old lady on the bed stirred uneasily, and opened her eyes. She closed them lazily again, though, as if she had expected something of the sort.

Thompson père opened the door and heard his daughter say: "That's American, isn't it?"

"What's American?" he demanded. Martha submitted to "that" again, for his general enlightenment.

He grasped Hugh's hand. "Young man, you're all right."

The words were not much, but men are creatures of the flesh,— most of them can say more in a hand-shake than in an oration.

The dispatcher on duty at Cheyenne that night said: "Must be a new man on at Gn. He's a bird on the key, I'll tell you."

Dr. AYER'S
Cherry Pectoral

BREAKS UP A COLD
IN ONE NIGHT.

"I cannot say too much in favor of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, having used it for the last ten years. It is the best remedy I know of for coughs and colds."
L. F. GAREE, Speigener, Ala.

For 60 years the standard specific for colds and coughs.

"Last May I had a severe cold. The violent coughing, for which I could procure no relief, at last brought on bleeding of the lungs. I was forced to take to my bed. The doctors were unable to do anything more for me. I determined to try Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which helped me right off. I took seven bottles of this medicine, and now I consider myself cured."— JOHN H. THOMAS, Middleton, Annapolis, County, N. S.

A life saving medicine.

"Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved the lives of two of my children, when, to all appearance, they were in the first stages of consumption. They are now grown up, strong and hearty."—JOHN W. HUFFORD, Farmington, Ia.

The sure cure for Croup.

"I have raised eight children, and all of them were subject to croup; but whenever attacked we adminstered Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, with the result that speedy relief always followed."
J. W. FLANDERS, M. D., Wrightsville, Ga.

"I was cured of la grippe by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—C. S. THOMPSON, Publisher of The Signal, West Farmington, Ohio.

The best remedy for La Grippe.

"The best remedy for la grippe that I know of is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—(Rev.) JOHN K. CHASE, So. Hampton, N. H.

It heals the Lungs.

"A severe attack of pneumonia left me in a weakened condition with a severe cough, which settled on my lungs. This cough kept me down and would not yield to any of the remedies that I used. My physician thought I would never recover, as I could get no rest. I finally concluded to try Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and soon after beginning its use I began to improve and after I had used three bottles I was pronounced well by my physician."—T. P. RYAN, Tuscaloosa, Ala.

It cures Whooping Cough.

"I feel sure that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my little girls' lives when they had whooping cough."—Mrs. A. H. BEERS, Barnes, N. Y.

Unequalled for the cure of Asthma and Bronchitis.

"I have sold Ayer's medicines for forty-five years. I know of no preparation that equals Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for the cure of bronchitis. It never fails to give prompt relief."—C. L. SHERWOOD, Druggist, Dowagiac, Mich.

"ART AND FANCY WORK," "NURSERY RHYMES," "HOME DYEING."

Mrs. Nella Daggett, editor of The Home, has published a new edition of her popular book, "Fancy Work and Art Decorations," that gives practical instructions for making doilies, table covers, scarfs, tray cloths, pincushions, etc., etc., with fifty illustrations. This book, together with "Nursery Rhymes" (a 16-page pamphlet with a handsome colored cover design of the Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe), and "Successful Home Dyeing," will be sent free to any reader of The Black Cat who forwards the following coupon to Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt.

COUPON.

This entitles any reader of The Black Cat to one copy of "Fancy Work and Art Decorations," "Nursery Rhymes," and "Successful Home Dyeing."

The above liberal offer is made to advertise the old reliable Diamond Dyes, and to get their book upon home dyeing into the hands of women who want to dress well by making their old clothing look like new.

Diamond Dyes have special dyes for cotton, different from those that are used for wool, and are the only package dyes on the market that can be relied upon to give colors that will not fade or crock. The fact that Diamond Dyes have been the standard home dyes for nearly twenty years and that their sale increases from year to year, is proof positive that they have never had an equal.

Why We Make This Offer.

A $65.00 Reference Library for $16.00.

IT IS THIS WAY. One year ago a prominent publishing concern determined to issue, in seven large quarto volumes, a complete up-to-date reference work, embracing Dictionary, Cyclopædia, and Atlas of the World, that should be in all respects superior to any other in existence. They contracted with us, as printers and binders, to manufacture this work, which contract we have just completed. To produce even an ordinary Dictionary and Cyclopædia requires the expenditure of an enormous amount of money before a dollar can be realized; and when to this is added the cost of a complete Atlas of the World, and innumerable expensive illustrations, the financial obligation becomes even more stupendous. Very few publishers can carry through so vast an enterprise without resorting to some sort of clever financiering. And so it happens that, in settlement of our account, we have found it necessary to accept, in part payment, a few hundred sets of the magnificent new work in question, the title of which is the

IMPERIAL DICTIONARY,
Cyclopædia and Atlas of the World.

These books are now in our possession. They represent wages paid out to printers and binders, and we must turn them into cash with the least possible delay, and without thought of profit. We took them at the exact cost of paper, printing, and binding, saying nothing of the more than $500,000 invested in preparing the plates, and shall let them go at substantially the same figures. This brings these splendid new sets down to about

NO MORE WHEN THESE ARE GONE.

ONE QUARTER THE REGULAR PRICE

and to move them quickly we have determined to sell them on the popular plan of one dollar down and a small monthly payment thereafter until paid for. Under this offer, which passes away forever with the sale of these sets, you secure a $65.00 Reference Library in 7 great volumes for $16.00.

WHAT IT CONSISTS OF

As its title indicates, it is a complete Dictionary, Cyclopædia, and Atlas of the World—three great and indispensable reference works combined in one—and in every department it is positively the best and latest in print. As a Dictionary, it is perfect and satisfying, having a larger vocabulary than any other, and embracing thousands of new words and scientific definitions not to be found in the best of ordinary dictionaries. The derivations are unequaled for fulness and accuracy, and every word is accented and pronounced with the greatest accuracy. As a Cyclopædia it covers nearly the whole range of human research, treating thousands more separate subjects than many of the expensive works devoted wholly to cyclopædic matter. As an Atlas of the World it shows every country, State, province, &c., on the globe, with all the cities, towns, mountains, rivers, railroads, canals, all the disputed boundaries, the new Yukon gold regions and routes to the Klondike, &c., with populations according to the very latest official figures. The Imperial is, in short, a complete self-educator; if you will but hunt out and make your own the golden nuggets of knowledge with which these seven great volumes are filled, you have no need for school, academy, or college. All this comes into your possession, with full privilege of examination, upon the trifling payment of only $1.00.

$1.00
As First Payment Secures The Entire Set
7 Great Vols.
260,000 Defined Words.
55,000 Cyclopædic Subjects.
72 Colored Maps.
About 6,000 Pages.

What You Must Do.

These sets are all solidly bound in Half-Russia leather. The regular price is $65.00 a set. We offer them to you, while our stock lasts, at $16.00, and only require that you pay $1.00, when the 7 volumes will be at once delivered to you, according to the directions for shipping which you must send. You are to pay shipping charges. You will thereafter send $2.50 each month for six months, thus completing the payment of $16.00 for a $65.00 set of books. The books are guaranteed as represented, or money will be refunded on their return within ten days.

SCRIBNER'S

DURING 1898 Scribner's Magazine will be unusually strong in its short stories by well-known writers:

RICHARD HARDING DAVIS, whose "Soldiers of Fortune" was the great success of the past year in magazine fiction, will again be a contributor in 1898.

RUDYARD KIPLING, whose best work both in fiction and poetry has been represented in Scribner's, will contribute his choicest new work to Scribner's in 1898.

KENNETH GRAHAME, whose stories of the Golden Age have won such high praise the past year, will again write for Scribner's.

GEORGE W. CABLE, who has written almost no fiction in several years, will write a group of excellent short stories for Scribner's in 1898.

Sweeping On...

I HAVE had a pretty wide experience in the publishing business. I have established a number of publications. I know a good deal about the growth of new publications, whether in my own hands or in the hands of other publishers. But in all my experience I have never known but one publication to sweep on towards a great big national circulation at so tremendous a pace as is now sweeping on. That one exception was MUNSEY'S MAGAZINE, when it swept over this country like a cyclone and made all the world marvel. It was MUNSEY'S MAGAZINE that gave the ten-cent magazine to the people — that made the ten-cent magazine possible. In less than two years it had reached out to 700,000 homes, where it at once became a part of the home life.

And now, judging from the way the orders and reorders for THE PURITAN are piling in upon us, it will become a strong second to THE MUNSEY. All this makes one thing certain, and that is that the women of this country have found THE PURITAN to be the publication they want — the publication they will have.

Superfluous Hair Removed

A growth of hair on the upper lip, also occasionally on the neck and arms, is the humiliation of many of my sex.

I suffered for years; tried, by actual count, eleven different advertised remedies, and submitted once to an electrical operation. Nothing was effective until I came across a preparation in a little hair-dressing shop in Paris, six years ago.

It removed the unsightly growth of hair, which had become thick and coarse on account of the frequent applications of advertised stuff, which removed the hair temporarily, but caused it to grow coarser than ever.

When I say that this certain Parisian preparation effected a permanent removal, I mean just as I say—permanent, for it has been six years since I first used it and there is no sign of a renewed growth yet.

I paid six hundred francs for the formula and have earned my living by selling this preparation ever since. I call it simply "Helen Markoe's Depilatory."

United States Health Reports (Vol. iv., No. 28, page 11) officially endorses as follows:

"Upon analysis we find Helen Markoe's preparation to contain such ingredients as will destroy follicle and otherwise permanently remove hair. Is harmless to skin."

The Black Cat

WE WANT stories that are stories, stories that are wholly original and new in plot, incident, situation, and handling, stories so fascinating in every detail, and so interesting from beginning to end, as to appeal to intelligent people everywhere. We want clean, clever, wholesome stories, free from commonplace, padding, and foreign phrases, that tell, and tell finely in a few pages what nine out of ten long stories tell poorly in a dozen monthly instalments. We especially desire stories in the handling of which the morbid, unnatural, and unpleasant are avoided rather than emphasized. No dialect stories or poems.

CONDITIONS. 1. Each manuscript must bear at the top of the first page the writer's real name and address, in full, as also the number of words it contains, which may range from 1,800 to 6,000, but must in no case exceed the latter number.

2. Each manuscript must be legibly written, on paper not larger than 8 by 11 inches, must be sent unrolled, postage or express charges fully prepaid, and accompanied by addressed and stamped envelope for return. Letters advising the submittal of stories must be enclosed with manuscripts, and not sent under separate cover. Manuscripts will be received and returned only at the writer's risk.

3. All stories will be judged purely on their own merits, and the name or reputation of a writer will carry absolutely no weight whatsoever. Every story will be judged not in accordance with its length, but with its worth as a story.

4. With every manuscript intended for this $4,000 prize competition there must be enclosed, in one and the same envelope, one yearly subscription to THE BLACK CAT, from January, 1898, to January, 1899, together with 50 cents to pay therefor.

5. All envelopes containing manuscripts with subscriptions as above must be plainly marked, "For Competition," and addressed, "The Shortstory Publishing Company, 144 High St., Boston, Mass." Their receipt will be promptly acknowledged. Any competitor may send as many stories as he pleases, but in each case all the above conditions must be complied with.

6. The competition will close March 31, 1898, and within 60 days from that date the awards will be announced in THE BLACK CAT, and paid in cash. Should two stories be found of equal merit, the respective prizes will be either doubled or divided. In the case of stories unsuccessful in the competition but deemed desirable, the publishers will either award special prizes, of not less than $100 in each instance, or will offer to purchase the same. All unsuccessful manuscripts will be returned, together with the printed announcement of the results of the competition. The conditions and requirements being here fully set forth, neither the publishers nor the editor can undertake to enter into correspondence relative thereto.

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer

goes straight to the roots, puts new life into them, and a rich growth of hair appears. It restores color to gray hair, and prevents baldness.

My hair began falling out very fast and I believe I would have been perfectly bald, but I used two bottles of Hall's Hair Renewer, and it not only checked the falling out but thickened the growth and cleansed the scalp of dandruff. J. A. KELLEY, Antonie, Ark.

A Fraud Exposed.

Every reader of The Black Cat and every publisher knows that its stories are copyrighted, and that each number gives due notice of such legal protection. No better evidence of the superior excellence of The Black Cat stories is needed than the fact that the property of no other periodical has been so widely pirated. In their anxiety to publish the cleverest short stories of the day, a number of the foremost papers have repeatedly been led to disregard the Eighth Commandment. The compliment thus paid to The Black Cat, while highly flattering, was wholly unwelcome, and one which has cost some of these papers dearly, and will cost others still more dearly. Conspicuous among these latter offenders is that brilliant hypocrite of American journalism, whose efforts to get something for nothing, and to shine at the expense of The Black Cat, are exposed by the following: —

[From the New York Evening Sun, Nov. 20, 1897.]

THE MEW OF THE BLACK CAT.

The following letter was recently received by THE EVENING SUN:

THE SHORTSTORY PUBLISHING COMPANY,
144 HIGH STREET,
BOSTON, MASS., November 6, 1897.

Publishers THE SUN, New York, N. Y.:

GENTLEMEN — The publication by you in THE EVENING SUN for June 2, 1897, of the story headed "Iali, Which Means Forgiven," constitutes an infringement of our rights, as the tale in question is our exclusive property, due notice of copyright having been given in the issue of The Black Cat for October, 1895, in which the story originally appeared under the title, "In a Tiger Trap."

We are obliged to insist upon reparation because the injury done by the infringement is substantial. As an instance of this we may mention that our plans to have the tale appear in book form have been defeated by your action in rendering our property free to all, as it were.

Your editor's attempt to get first-class fiction for nothing simply resulted in his dealing in pirated property, and the fact that you credited the tale to the London Mail is of course wholly irrelevant.

Fully believing that the publication by you was without knowledge of our rights, though that constitutes no defence, we are willing to accept a due bill for one hundred and fifty dollars' worth of advertising space in the MORNING and EVENING SUN, to be used by us for advertising our publication within thirty days from this date. This offer to accept nominal reparation is, however, conditional upon its prompt acceptance by you.

Very respectfully,
THE SHORTSTORY PUBLISHING CO.
H. D. UMBSTAETTER, Treasurer.

The facts are that the story referred to was never copied by THE EVENING SUN from The Black Cat of October, 1895, but that a story published by THE EVENING SUN was copied from the London Mail, to which paper it was duly credited. Under these circumstances THE EVENING SUN declines to submit to the extortion of $150 worth of advertising space.

The fact is that there isn't a penitentiary in the land whose inmates will not unanimously endorse the stand taken in the closing paragraph of the Sun's characteristic comment. The story in question was stolen from The Black Cat, whose exclusive property it is, and the difference between filching it directly from The Black Cat and crediting it to an English pirate is simply the difference between a thief and the receiver of stolen property. The Sun's conduct stands in pitiful contrast with its hysterical howlings about the sacredness of property, the protection of commercial rights, the hideousness of anarchy, and the loathsomeness of yellow journalism. And its failure to make redress when caught in the possession of a pirated story stamps it as a hypocrite and a humbug. Its attempt to palm off on its readers a two-year-old American tale as a new English product is evidence that its vociferous patriotism is of that strictly professional kind which was defined by Dr. Johnson as the "last refuge of a scoundrel." That the Sun, however, has spasms of sanity is proved by the fact that when, on a previous occasion, it was caught in appropriating a story from The Black Cat it offered profuse apologies and promptly sent its check in atonement. Happily, the laws are such that this old offender, trapped again, who declines to "submit to extortion" by making nominal reparation, will be forced to make substantial reparation. Meantime the Sun already stands convicted of dealing in stolen property.

$500.00 Prize Story!

"The Heart of God."

By JOANNA E. WOOD.

The unparalleled disappearance which baffled three clever men of the world whose eyes were wide open, a scheme of action ranging over a hemisphere, the woman in the case—these elements render "The Heart of God" a tale that will appeal alike to lovers of mystery, of adventure, of romance. Yet with all its cosmopolitanism it combines a vein of wholesome humor and an atmosphere of good comradeship that captivate the reader from the start. Its style is vigorous, its narrative irresistible in its swing, and first and last its people are flesh and blood people, and its situations—extraordinary though they are—always ring true.

The above remarkable story, for which Miss Joanna E. Wood received a cash prize of $500.00 from THE BLACK CAT, will appear, complete and copyrighted, in the March number of THE BLACK CAT. Send 50 cents now for a full year's subscription, and thus make sure of receiving this great prize tale, as also the entire series of $4,000.00 prize stories which will appear exclusively in THE BLACK CAT.

Direct From Distiller to Consumer

$3.20 EXPRESS PAID.

Saving Middlemen's Profits, Preventing Possibility of Adulteration.

We are distillers with a wide reputation of 30 years standing. Our whole enormous product is sold to consumers direct. We sell direct so that our whiskey may be pure when it reaches you. For medicinal purposes adulterated whiskey is dangerous. For sideboard purposes it is abominable, yet it is almost impossible to get pure whiskey from dealers. We have tens of thousands of customers who never buy elsewhere. A customer who once tries our whiskey is a customer always. We want more of them, and we make the following offer to get them:

We will send four full quart bottles of Hayner's Seven Year Old Double Copper Distilled Rye for $3.20, Express Prepaid. We ship in plain packages—no marks to indicate contents (which will avoid possible comment). When you get it and test it, if it isn't satisfactory return it at our expense and we will return your $3.20. Such whiskey can not be purchased elsewhere for less than $5.00.

We are the only distillers selling to consumers direct. Others who claim to be are dealers, buying and selling. Our whiskey has our reputation behind it.

A $5.00 Book for $1.00.

The Latest and Best Publication on Modern Artistic Dwellings and other Buildings of Low Cost. The best efforts of several lives, devoted to Architecture, contained in

Palliser's AMERICAN ARCHITECTURE;

Or, Every Man a Complete Builder.

BE YOUR OWN ARCHITECT.

This book will save you hundreds of dollars if you are thinking about building a house.

If you are thinking of building a house you ought to buy the new book, Palliser's American Architecture; or, Every Man a Complete Builder, prepared by Palliser, Palliser & Co., the well-known Architects.

There is not a builder or any one intending to build or otherwise interested that can afford to be without it. It is a practical work and everybody buys it. The best, cheapest and most popular book ever issued on Building. Nearly four hundred drawings. A $5 book in size and style, but we have determined to make it meet the popular demand, to suit the times, so that it can be easily reached by all.

This book contains 104 pages 11x14 inches in size, and consists of large 9x12 plate pages, giving plans, elevations, perspective views, descriptions, owners' names, actual cost of construction, no guess work, and instructions How to Build 70 Cottages, Villas, Double Houses, Brick Block Houses, suitable for city suburbs, town and country houses for the farm, and workingmen's homes, for all sections of the country, and costing from $300 to $6,500; also Barns, Stables, School House, Town Hall, Churches, and other public buildings, together with specifications, form of contract, and a large amount of information on the erection of buildings, selection of site, employment of architects. It is worth $5 to any one, but I will send it in paper cover by mail, postpaid, on receipt of $1; bound in cloth, $2.

If you ever intend to build get this book and study it before you commence. This should be your first step toward building a house, so as to ascertain what kind of a house you want and find out how much it is going to cost before going ahead.

There is not one person in a hundred that builds a house but that wishes, after it is too late, that he had made some different arrangements on planning the interior, and would give many dollars to have had it otherwise, but it is too late.

Also there is not one in a hundred but that will tell you that his house is costing a great deal more than he calculated it would. The reason of this is he starts to build, without proper consideration; his only foundation is the money he has to build with and large imaginations. About the time he has his building enclosed his imaginations vanish and his money with them.

The value of this work to builders cannot be estimated, as it contains designs for just such houses as they are called on to build every day in the week.

There is not a builder in the country who can afford to neglect this book.

The American Monthly
Review of Reviews.

EDITED BY - - ALBERT SHAW.

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in the "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for it is, as the Bookman says below, "a great monthly newspaper." As such, it prints for its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the month, of the political, the economic, and literary happenings which are of value to intelligent men and women. The Editor's "Progress of the World" tells succinctly an illustrated story of the month. The "Leading Articles" give the best thought and information of the current magazines in five continents; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the man of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of immediate serious import; the Book Reviews keep abreast of all the really important works published; in "Current History Caricature" shows the success- ful cartoons of the month from all countries, so grouped as to be really histori- cal.

> "The change portends no difference in the character and scope of the magazine. It may add dignity and distinctiveness, in which qualities, however, it has never been lacking since its start. There is nothing like it now in the broad field of current periodicals, and it is so good month in and month out that we do not see how it can ever have a successful rival."—The Congregationalist.

> "It is an excellent name, and we congratulate The American Monthly, which is one of the most highly valued of our contemporaries, upon its selection. We know of no review published, in this country or in Europe, which combines so successfully as The American Monthly the alertness, timeliness, and energy of journalism with the sound judgment, carefully weighed opinion, exact knowledge, and well-chosen English of the purely literary periodical."—The Outlook.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one monthly volume the information needed by intelligent people of "live" instincts is best gauged in the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. The rank and file of these, as well as the men and women of great names who are subscribers, write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable;" "is simply invaluable;" "is a generous library in itself;" is "a historical cyclopedia of the world in every important movement of our modern day, expressed with terse clearness and vigor;" "the best means of aid for busy man;" "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had;" "a triumph of editorial genius;" "the world under a field glass," etc., etc.

> "Its relation to other magazines has ceased for long to be merely that of a summary and compendium of their best contents, as the title Review of Reviews taken literally would suggest. It has an independent voice of its own, notably in the timely contributions to international and world-wide topics commanding universal and immediate attention. The point of view is clearly and unmistakably American. Dr. Shaw's great monthly is a courageous attempt to take down current history in shorthand, so that we have the quickest possible intelligent account, combining chronicle and comment, of what is happening in the world. If the time is coming, as a magazine editor predicted the other day, when all our dailies and weeklies shall have run into monthlies, then The American Monthly will be the forerunner and the model of the great monthly newspaper."—The Bookman.

The Children can get a season's pleasure free and you can get three months choice reading for 50 cents. There are days and weeks of amusement and instruction for the children in a set of our Toy Furniture. The task of cutting out the pieces and putting them together furnishes healthful employment for the hands and brain, and gives a larger measure of solid enjoyment to the little ones than can be derived in almost any other way. Remember your own childhood—you used to enjoy such things. Here's your opportunity to surprise and delight your own or somebody else's children. Bear in mind you shall have this entire set of Toy Furniture, 25 pieces postage paid, absolutely free.

The furniture consists of a Parlor Set of Upright Piano, with Stool, Centre Table, Sofa, three Easy Chairs, Small Table, Foot Rest, Folding Screen, Easel and Picture. Dining Room Set of Dining Table, four Dining Chairs and Side Board. A Chamber Set of Bedstead, Dressing Case, with Mirror, Wash Stand, Towel Rack, Foot Stool, and three Chairs—in all, 25 different pieces. The furniture is printed on heavy cardboard, in a rich mahogany color, and when cut out, and set up, looks exactly like real furniture, and correctly represents the handsome and expensive furniture of the present day.

It is so plainly marked that the children can cut it out without assistance, and it furnishes happiness and "something to do" for a long time.

(From The Journalist, New York, Dec. 25, 1897.)

In this era of "foreign contributors" it is refreshing to pick up a copy of THE BLACK CAT, and read such vivid and original stories by American writers and of things American. Another inspiring feature is that the authors' names are, many of them, new in the field of fiction. A magazine that is maintaining such a high order of literature, and is doing so much to encourage and support American authorship, should be issued weekly. THE BLACK CAT certainly has brought out some powerful short-story writers. "A Touch of Civilization," in the December number, is one of the strongest pieces of realistic fiction that has appeared in all the year. Happily the Czar and Sultan and all the rest of those "experienced writers" have no audience with Boston's able monthly.

An Extraordinary Offer.

For $1.00 we will mail at once, postage paid, all back numbers of The Black Cat, from No. 1, October, 1895, to No. 28, January, 1898, inclusive (excepting August, 1896, which is out of print), and ALSO mail monthly, as issued, one copy, postage paid, from February, 1898, to December, 1898, inclusive. This offer comprises over 200 of the cleverest stories ever told, including the ten $2,600 prize stories, eight $4,000 prize stories, each original, complete, copyrighted, and published exclusively in The Black Cat, the whole forming a library of fascinating fiction, costing us nearly thirty thousand dollars in cash. Address, THE SHORTSTORY PUBLISHING CO., 144-148 High Street, Boston, Mass.

(From the New York Press, Dec. 4, 1897.)

Starting out on entirely new lines, THE BLACK CAT has never deviated by a hair from its purpose. The aim is the same to-day, and it hits the mark just as squarely as at first. To tell, and tell well, in a few pages what nine out of ten stories tell poorly in half a dozen instalments; to give the people nothing but what is clean and yet exhilarating, and to present itself every month in such handsome shape and handy size that a quiet sense of comfort goes with the compactness, completeness, and originality of its contributions; to show no regard for name and fame of author, things so heavily banked on by other publishers for the allurement and beguilement of the public; to pay the right writers of the right stories the highest prices ever paid for short stories, and to pay on acceptance, as all periodicals ought to do for their own sake as well as that of the poor devil author—all this, and more, has been the ambition, the mission, and the achievement of THE BLACK CAT.

No magazine in so short a time has done so much for this branch of literature and for American writers. So it is no wonder that intelligent men and women in every walk of life are enthusiastic in their appreciation of this marvel of the story-telling art.

Superfluous Hair Removed

A growth of hair on the upper lip, also occasionally on the neck and arms, is the humiliation of many of my sex.

I suffered for years; tried, by actual count, eleven different advertised remedies, and submitted once to an electrical operation. Nothing was effective until I came across a preparation in a little hair-dressing shop in Paris, six years ago.

It removed the unsightly growth of hair, which had become thick and coarse on account of the frequent applications of advertised stuff, which removed the hair temporarily, but caused it to grow coarser than ever.

When I say that this certain Parisian preparation effected a permanent removal, I mean just as I say—permanent, for it has been six years since I first used it and there is no sign of a renewed growth yet.

I paid six hundred francs for the formula and have earned my living by selling this preparation ever since. I call it simply "Helen Markoe's Depilatory."

United States Health Reports (Vol. iv., No. 28, page 119) officially endorses as follows:

"Upon analysis we find Helen Markoe's preparation to contain such ingredients as will destroy follicle and otherwise permanently remove hair. Is harmless to skin."

I employ no agents, and give each patron my personal attention. Write for sealed private information to

The above books are published in neat pamphlet form, many of them handsomely illustrated, and they are printed from clear, bold, readable type on good paper. Each book contains a complete, first-class novel or other work by a well-known and popular author. It is not a large number of novels or stories bound together in one book, but twenty separate and distinct books. And we agree to send to you—not one, or five, or ten, but the whole twenty splendid books absolutely free, by mail post-paid, if you send us sixteen cents for a six months' subscription to GOOD LITERATURE. Our regular price for these books is five cents each, or one dollar for the set of twenty. In the catalogues of any of the popular "Libraries" or "Series" you will find the same books listed at 25 cents each. But taking them at our own low price we actually give you, absolutely free, one dollar's worth of splendid books to induce you to become a trial subscriber to GOOD LITERATURE. This offer comes to you from one of the leading publishing houses in the United States—a house that has been established over twenty years, and has a national reputation for honesty and reliability. It must not be compared with the fraudulent offers of irresponsible parties. We refer to the Mercantile Agencies and to all the leading newspapers as to our reliability. We guarantee perfect and entire satisfaction to every one who shall take advantage of this offer—more than that, we guarantee that if you can conscientiously say that you are not perfectly and entirely satisfied, we will return your money and make you a present of both books and paper. This is a special limited offer, good only until May 1st, 1898; take advantage of it before that date. For sixty-four cents we will send five subscriptions, with the twenty books free to each. Address: F. M. LUPTON, Publisher, 23, 25 and 27 City Hall Place, New York.

The Black Cat

WE WANT stories that are stories, stories that are wholly original and new in plot, incident, situation, and handling, stories so fascinating in every detail, and so interesting from beginning to end, as to appeal to intelligent people everywhere. We want clean, clever, wholesome stories, free from commonplace, padding, and foreign phrases, that tell, and tell finely in a few pages what nine out of ten long stories tell poorly in a dozen monthly instalments. We especially desire stories in the handling of which the morbid, unnatural, and unpleasant are avoided rather than emphasized. No dialect stories or poems.

CONDITIONS. 1. Each manuscript must bear at the top of the first page the writer's real name and address, in full, as also the number of words it contains, which may range from 1,800 to 6,000, but must in no case exceed the latter number.

2. Each manuscript must be legibly written, on paper not larger than 8 by 11 inches, must be sent unrolled, postage or express charges fully prepaid, and accompanied by addressed and stamped envelope for return. Letters advising the submittal of stories must be enclosed with manuscripts, and not sent under separate cover. Manuscripts will be received and returned only at the writer's risk.

3. All stories will be judged purely on their own merits, and the name or reputation of a writer will carry absolutely no weight whatsoever. Every story will be judged not in accordance with its length, but with its worth as a story.

4. With every manuscript intended for this $4,000 prize competition there must be enclosed, in one and the same envelope, one yearly subscription to THE BLACK CAT, from January, 1898, to January, 1899, together with 50 cents to pay therefor.

5. All envelopes containing manuscripts with subscriptions as above must be plainly marked, "For Competition," and addressed, "The Shortstory Publishing Company, 144 High St., Boston, Mass." Their receipt will be promptly acknowledged. Any competitor may send as many stories as he pleases, but in each case all the above conditions must be complied with.

6. The competition will close March 31, 1898, and within 60 days from that date the awards will be announced in THE BLACK CAT, and paid in cash. Should two stories be found of equal merit, the respective prizes will be either doubled or divided. In the case of stories unsuccessful in the competition but deemed desirable, the publishers will either award special prizes, of not less than $100 in each instance, or will offer to purchase the same. All unsuccessful manuscripts will be returned, together with the printed announcement of the results of the competition. The conditions and requirements being here fully set forth, neither the publishers nor the editor can undertake to enter into correspondence relative thereto.

"The Heart of God."

By JOANNA E. WOOD.

The unparalleled disappearance which baffled three clever men of the world whose eyes were wide open, a scheme of action ranging over a hemisphere, the woman in the case—these elements render "The Heart of God" a tale that will appeal alike to lovers of mystery, of adventure, of romance. Yet with all its cosmopolitanism it combines a vein of wholesome humor and an atmosphere of good comradeship that captivate the reader from the start. Its style is vigorous, its narrative irresistible in its swing, and first and last its people are flesh and blood people, and its situations—extraordinary though they are—always ring true.

The above remarkable story, for which Miss Joanna E. Wood received a cash prize of $500.00 from THE BLACK CAT, will appear, complete and copyrighted, in the March number of THE BLACK CAT. Send 50 cents now for a full year's subscription, and thus make sure of receiving this great prize tale, as also the entire series of $4,000.00 prize stories which will appear exclusively in THE BLACK CAT.

Preventing Possibility of Adulteration.

We are distillers with a wide reputation of 30 years standing. Our whole enormous product is sold to consumers direct. We sell direct so that our whiskey may be pure when it reaches you. It is almost impossible to get pure whiskey from dealers. We have tens of thousands of customers who never buy elsewhere. A customer who once tries our whiskey is a customer always. We want more of them, and we make the following offer to get them:

We will send four full quart bottles of Hayner's Seven Year Old Double Copper Distilled Rye for $3.20, Express Prepaid. We ship in plain packages—no marks to indicate contents. When you get it and test it, if it isn't satisfactory return it at our expense, and we will return your $3.20. Such whiskey cannot be purchased elsewhere for less than $5.00.

We are the only distillers selling to consumers direct. Others who claim to be are only dealers. Our whiskey has our reputation behind it.

Superfluous Hair Removed

A growth of hair on the upper lip, also occasionally on the neck and arms, is the humiliation of many of my sex.

I suffered for years; tried, by actual count, eleven different advertised remedies, and submitted once to an electrical operation. Nothing was effective until I came across a preparation in a little hair-dressing shop in Paris, six years ago.

It removed the unsightly growth of hair, which had become thick and coarse on account of the frequent applications of advertised stuff, which removed the hair temporarily, but caused it to grow coarser than ever.

When I say that this certain Parisian preparation effected a permanent removal, I mean just as I say—permanent, for it has been six years since I first used it and there is no sign of a renewed growth yet.

I paid six hundred francs for the formula and have earned my living by selling this preparation ever since. I call it simply "Helen Markoe's Depilatory."

United States Health Reports (Vol. iv., No. 28, page 11) officially endorses as follows:

"Upon analysis we find Helen Markoe's preparation to contain such ingredients as will destroy follicle and otherwise permanently remove hair. Is harmless to skin."

I employ no agents, and give each patron my personal attention. Write for sealed private information to

The Black Cat

WE WANT stories that are stories, stories that are wholly original and new in plot, incident, situation, and handling, stories so fascinating in every detail, and so interesting from beginning to end, as to appeal to intelligent people everywhere. We want clean, clever, wholesome stories, free from commonplace, padding, and foreign phrases, that tell, and tell finely in a few pages what nine out of ten long stories tell poorly in a dozen monthly instalments. We especially desire stories in the handling of which the morbid, unnatural, and unpleasant are avoided rather than emphasized. No dialect stories or poems.

CONDITIONS. 1. Each manuscript must bear at the top of the first page the writer's real name and address, in full, as also the number of words it contains, which may range from 1,800 to 6,000, but must in no case exceed the latter number.

2. Each manuscript must be legibly written, on paper not larger than 8 by 11 inches, must be sent unrolled, postage or express charges fully prepaid, and accompanied by addressed and stamped envelope for return. Letters advising the submittal of stories must be enclosed with manuscripts, and not sent under separate cover. Manuscripts will be received and returned only at the writer's risk.

3. All stories will be judged purely on their own merits, and the name or reputation of a writer will carry absolutely no weight whatsoever. Every story will be judged not in accordance with its length, but with its worth as a story.

4. With every manuscript intended for this $4,000 prize competition there must be enclosed, in one and the same envelope, one yearly subscription to THE BLACK CAT, from January, 1898, to January, 1899, together with 50 cents to pay therefor.

5. All envelopes containing manuscripts with subscriptions as above must be plainly marked, "For Competition," and addressed, "The Shortstory Publishing Company, 144 High St., Boston, Mass." Their receipt will be promptly acknowledged. Any competitor may send as many stories as he pleases, but in each case all the above conditions must be complied with.

6. The competition will close March 31, 1898, and within 60 days from that date the awards will be announced in THE BLACK CAT, and paid in cash. Should two stories be found of equal merit, the respective prizes will be either doubled or divided. In the case of stories unsuccessful in the competition but deemed desirable, the publishers will either award special prizes, of not less than $100 in each instance, or will offer to purchase the same. All unsuccessful manuscripts will be returned, together with the printed announcement of the results of the competition. The conditions and requirements being here fully set forth, neither the publishers nor the editor can undertake to enter into correspondence relative thereto.

THE SHORTSTORY PUBLISHING CO., Boston, Mass.

If the penwritten story which this angry editor is vainly trying to decipher had been typewritten, its author would have received a check for $100, instead of a "respectfully declined" circular.

To Story Writers and Other Writers.

The present-day rush forces the present-day editor to give preference to present-day writing—and that's typewriting. That's why a fair story or letter plainly typewritten succeeds where a fine story or letter poorly penwritten fails.

The typewriter for Story Writers and all Other Writers is the American Ten Dollar Typewriter, which is as well made as the highest priced machines, only more simple.

It has stood the test of time. Five years without a competitor. 27,000 in use. Catalogue and samples of work free if you mention this magazine and address

WE SET THE FASHION.

When in 1895 the Columbia name-plate was introduced we were first laughed at, next envied, and then copied—now every well-known bicycle has a distinctive name-plate.

When in the past few years we introduced our famous

Columbia
Ladies' Loop Frame

it was universally decried by other makers. Its beautiful lines and elegant appearance, together with the rigidity of the construction and the ease and comfort with which ladies could ride, mount and dismount, earned for it the endorsement and approbation of the riding public, and to-day its well-proportioned curves are copied and imitated extensively by other makers. Again was Columbia wisdom demonstrated and our claim substantiated

BUFFALO LITHIA WATER

Springs 1 and 2
NERVE TONIC
ANTI-DYSPEPTIC and RESTORATIVE

Rev. Abraham Jaeger, D. D., of the Diocese of Ohio, former Professor in Kenyon College, Ohio, now of Lynchburg, Va.

"After having suffered for years from a severe form of Dyspepsia, I became subject to attacks of Rheumatism. The remedies used for this trouble greatly aggravated my dyspepsia, and I was reduced to a most distressing condition My stomach became highly irritable, rejecting everything, medicines, food and drink. Common drinking water could not be retained in the smallest quantity. I was put on BUFFALO LITHIA WATER No. 2, which acted like magic. Not only was the distressing nausea promptly allayed, but my digestion was perfectly restored. The Rheumatic affection was much benefited. I regard this Water as an admirable tonic and invigorator."

The late Rev. Edward Hines, of the Synod of North Carolina.

"For twenty years I suffered from a distressing form of Indigestion, which very much affected my general health, and required, at all times, the greatest circumspection as to my diet. I was, at the same time, subject to attacks of Nervous Headache, which came on with great regularity about every two weeks, each attack incapacitating me from two to three days for any labor. Two years ago I visited the BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS of Virginia, using the Water of Spring No. 1 for six or eight weeks, and with results so beneficial that before leaving the Springs I was able to eat without question whatever was placed before me, and with the disappearance of my dyspeptic trouble there was also a cessation of the attacks of Nervous Headache, and I am now in the enjoyment of better health than for years before."

"I suffered severely from Dyspepsia and Insomnia, attended with great and constant depression of spirits, on account of which the annual Conference granted me a year for rest and recuperation. Cod-liver oil and stimulants were not only medicine, but my principal nourishment, my stomach refusing to digest other food.

"I visited the BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS, and used freely of the Water of the original spring, now known as No. 1 It soon gave me a keen appetite and healthful digestion, and I was able to partake with perfect impunity of the richest dishes found upon the hotel table. The exhilarating effect of the Water was very marked, and my despondency gave way to a cheerful, hopeful spirit; the insomnia was relieved to a great extent, though not entirely Continuing the use of the Water for several months, my health was entirely restored, and I reported myself to the Conference in November ready for itinerant life."

BUFFALO LITHIA WATER is an undoubted, positive remedy for many of the most serious and most common ills that afflict mankind It deserves the investigation of all who are in poor health An illustrated book can be procured on request, containing the testimony of the most famous physicians of this country and Europe (men whose very names will impress you), as to the wonderful power of BUFFALO LITHIA WATER in Gout, Rheumatism, Bright's Disease, Gravel, Indigestion, Nervous Dyspepsia, Nervous Exhaustion, Malaria, Alcoholism, Eczema and Blood Disorders, Diseases of Women, etc. The list is long, but the testimony is stronger If your health is not satisfactory, send for the book and judge for yourself. Springs open for Guests from June 15 to Oct. 1.

Hereafter THE FOWLER will be sold direct to the Rider from our factory

$43.50

THE times seem to demand this innovation. We are the first high-grade bicycle builders to make the move.

Let us consider for a moment the conditions which keep up the prices of bicycles.

WHO supports the jobber — the agent —the retailer—the traveling salesman, with his enormous expenses—the professional rider—the amateur? Who pays the hotel and railroad bills, and the thousand and one expenses incidental to selling wheels in the usual way?

The Rider!

The only way to maintain quality and sell a wheel for little money is to cut off the large expenses of the middlemen. This we have done, and now offer the Fowler as a "one-profit" bicycle. We sell direct from our factory to the rider, for cash or its equivalent.

We wish to repeat that we are able to sell our wheel for $43.50 simply because all intermediate profits and useless expenses are wiped out, and not because it is a "cheap" bicycle.

In this limited space we can hardly make our plan as clear as we would like. If interested, please ask for booklet, which we will gladly mail without charge.

Remember that the "original Fowler man," Frank T. Fowler, is again making The Fowler.

About this Picture.

IF you are going to pay, say, $75 for a new wheel, rather than a less sum, it is because you think the cheaper wheels lack quality.

But please notice that Fowler's new plan of selling direct from factory to rider at one profit in the Fowler while reducing its price.

KEEPS QUALITY

We invite comparison of our 1898 Truss Frame Fowler model, piece by piece, with any wheel built, no matter what its price.

The price-difference shown in above picture ($31.50 in favor of the "one-profit" Fowler—big difference on a single wheel, isn't it?)—does not come out of the wheel, but is a saving which naturally follows our new method of doing business.

WHAT YOU GET FOR.. $43.50

Best quality all through—a Guarantee covering the current year, not 60 days, your choice of any Tire or Saddle on the market, Baldwin Chain, etc., etc.—but write to us and let us send you full particulars of the new plan and the new Fowler. Just drop a postal to

"I wouldn't be without my brace, for it has cured me of all female troubles. Had suffered twelve years with falling, laceration, and ulceration of womb, with backache, headache, bearing down, constipation, painful menstruation, ovarian pains, etc. Have had Brace a year, and haven't been in bed an hour from any illness since. Mrs. J. K. Hunter says the same and you can use our names if you wish. A young lady friend said to me not long ago: 'I don't care where I have a pain, the Brace relieves it.' Other friends have told me of their delight with the Brace."

DIRECT FROM DISTILLER TO CONSUMER

$3.20 FOUR FULL QUARTS Express Paid.

Saving Middlemen's Profits,

Preventing Possibility of Adulteration.

We are distillers with a wide reputation of 30 years standing. Our whole enormous product is sold to consumers direct. We sell direct so that our whiskey may be pure when it reaches you. It is almost impossible to get pure whiskey from dealers. We have tens of thousands of customers who never buy elsewhere. A customer who once tries our whiskey is a customer always. We want more of them, and we make the following offer to get them:

We will send four full quart bottles of Hayner's Seven Year Old Double Copper Distilled Rye for $3.20, Express Prepaid. We ship in plain packages—no marks to indicate contents. When you get it and test it, if it isn't satisfactory return it at our expense, and we will return your $3.20. Such whiskey cannot be purchased elsewhere for less than $5.00.

We are the only distillers selling to consumers direct. Others who claim to be are only dealers. Our whiskey has our reputation behind it.

SIX LOVELY ROSES FREE

To introduce our popular illustrated literary and family paper, Good Literature, into thousands of homes where it is not already taken, we make the following special and extraordinary offer:

Upon receipt of only Twenty-five Cents we will send Good Literature for the Remaining Nine Months of this Year (April to December inclusive), and to each subscriber we will also send, Free and post-paid, Six Lovely Everblooming Roses, as follows:

Empress of China, a new hardy perpetual blooming climbing pink rose; blooms profusely from May to December; will make a growth of 10 to 15 feet the first year, and live through the coldest winter without protection; charming for walls, pillars and porches.

Inconstant Beauty, the rose of many colors; a single bush will bear at the same time flowers of various colors, including orange, yellow, pink, apricot and crimson.

Marion Dingee, the most magnificent dark crimson rose in existence; a profuse bloomer, and strong, vigorous grower; a very choice variety.

Empress Augusta Victoria, a charming new rose; color, creamy white; deliciously fragrant; pointed buds and full double flowers; free bloomer and healthy grower.

Sunset, a lovely rose, rich golden amber or old gold, tinged and shaded with ruddy copper, resembling the tints of a summer sunset; flowers large, full and deliciously perfumed.

Madame de Watteville, the tulip rose, creamy yellow, widely bordered with bright crimson; a hardy, vigorous grower and profuse bloomer. One of the most charming varieties.

Bear in mind that we offer, not one, but the entire list of six lovely ever-blooming tea roses described above, absolutely free, by mail postpaid, if you will send us twenty-five cents for GOOD LITERATURE for the remaining nine months of this year (April to December inclusive). You will get the full worth of your money in your subscription to the paper; the roses are an absolute gift. Remember that these are not cheap, common roses, such as you see advertised at low prices. They are the choicest and most famous varieties, and such as are sold at high prices by all the leading florists. The roses are grown especially for us by one of the largest and most reliable firms of rose growers in the United States. We shall send you strong, healthy, well-rooted plants, well packed, by mail, guaranteed to reach you in perfect condition, and to give absolute satisfaction. GOOD LITERATURE is a large and handsome illustrated literary and family paper, each issue comprising from 20 to 24 large 4-column pages, including a beautiful cover. It contains Serial and Short Stories by the most famous authors, poems, sketches, instructive miscellany, Household, Juvenile and Humorous Departments, etc. You will be delighted with it, and the six lovely roses are worth many times the price of subscription. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. This is a special offer by a well-known and reliable publishing house, established over twenty-two years; we refer to the Mercantile Agencies and to all leading newspapers as to our responsibility. # Columbia Chainless Bicycles

"It has a clean-cut, symmetrical look that pleases the eye, and compared to which a chain wheel seems to be encumbered and complicated."
—New York Herald.

"The construction of the new chainless wheel is simplicity itself."
—Boston Journal.

"Viewed from whatever standpoint, the new wheel represents the highest form of bicycle development."
—Philadelphia Ledger.

"The factory that has turned out this novelty is more than twice as large as any bicycle establishment in existence, and for twenty-one years has achieved one unbroken series of successes."
—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"It will run longer with a single turn of the cranks than the easiest running wheel now in use."
—Philadelphia Press.

"All the driving mechanism is enclosed, so that it is impossible for dust to get in the bearings."
—New Orleans Picayune.

"The wheel runs smoothly, easily, and is admirable in up-grade work. It's a beauty and no mistake."
—Buffalo Commercial.

"It costs more, to be sure, but then good things always come high."
—Evening Gazette, Haverhill, Mass.

"The wheel is a model of grace and beauty."—Baltimore American.

"Finest bicycle ever made and easiest to propel."—New York Press.

THE MUSICAL SENSATION OF THE AGE

EVERY ONE CAN NOW HAVE MUSIC. A MUSICAL PHONOGRAPH TOP WHICH PLAYS ANY AIR OR COMPOSITION. NOT A TOY BUT A PRACTICAL INSTRUMENT. AFFORDS HOURS OF AMUSEMENT IN THE PARLOR OR CONCERT HALL.

OUR OFFER TO REPRESENTATIVES. A fertile brain has devised a wonderful instrument which has the past month reached the enormous sale of over 20,000. We have determined to introduce them in every house in America, and want a few thousand willing workers to represent us. We do not want you to work on commission. We are willing to pay you salaries, for we know how readily our great novelty will be in demand when once seen and heard. We do not want you to leave home, in fact you can represent us in your own parlor as well as not. All we ask is to invite a few of your friends to your home after receiving our free instrument. Show them this wonderful idea and give them an evening's musical treat. Two hours or more of musical enjoyment can be experienced as this wonderful phonograph top masters such compositions as Beethoven, Senumann, Handel, Paderewski, etc. One half hour can be devoted to beautiful operatic selections, latest songs of the day, college glee songs, and your company will leave thoroughly pleased with your evening's entertainment. All we ask you to do is to tell your friends the price, which is within the reach of all, and take their orders. You will find every listener, every guest will only too readily give their orders as the price is so low, the instrument so taking that no one cares to be without it. You then send orders to us and we fill same. Is this not easy work? We are willing to send your instrument absolutely free, the only request we make that you show same to your friends. We do not ask you to even buy one. You can then retain same for your own enjoyment and can always have music for times of rejoicing, music that consoles, music that cheers the sad at heart, music that fires the soul with national patriotism, and music which quickens the heavy steps of the weary toiler to the light, fantastic step of a ballet dancer. How many families cannot afford a Piano, Organ, or even a cheap instrument like a Guitar, Violin, or Mandolin! To them we fill a long-felt want that will be appreciated by thousands. How many people musically inclined, but owing to poverty and inability of instruction, are forbidden the beautiful soul-inspiring strains of music! The poor herdsman in the far-away plains of the West, the gold seeker in the Klondike Regions, the poor farmer's wife, — every one can now enjoy music.

OUR INDUCEMENT TO YOU. We want a representative in every town and city in the United States and Canada, and will send any applicant who sends their name for registering on our books and thirty-six cents for packing and transportation expenses one of our instruments. We will send same immediately to your home, asking no further payment, and enroll your name among our representatives. If you care to work on salary or commission on all orders you may be able to secure, state so, as it is immaterial to us upon what basis you are paid. If you do not care to take orders, we then ask you to mention to your friends our address, or hand them one of our circulars so they can communicate with us. Do not delay, but send your name at once. Upon receipt of order and thirty-six cents (for expenses) instrument will be sent without any other costs whatever. Address,

To Story Writers and Other Writers.

The present-day rush forces the present-day editor to give preference to present-day writing—and that's typewriting. That's why a fair story or letter plainly typewritten succeeds where a fine story or letter poorly penwritten fails.

The typewriter for Story Writers and all Other Writers is the American Ten Dollar Typewriter, which is as well made as the highest priced machines, only more simple.

It has stood the test of time. Five years without a competitor. 27,000 in use. Catalogue and samples of work free if you mention this magazine and address

Williams' Shaving Soap

"Shaving is an irritating process. A soap, then, that is especially made to soothe and prevent this irritation must make the very best kind of toilet soap."

This Little Shaver

has discovered that shaving is not the only use for Williams' Shaving Soap, and thinks it's great fun to be "lathered from head to foot" with its big, soft, creamy, fragrant lather.

A distinguished physician says: "I invariably recommend Williams' Shaving Soap to my patients for toilet purposes and in diseases of the skin, in preference to castile and ordinary toilet soaps, knowing that a soap especially prepared for the face, and enjoying such a reputation as Williams' Shaving Soap, must of necessity be absolutely pure, mild, and neutral. In no other soap can I find such soothing, healing, and refreshing qualities. Its peculiar healing properties make it, in my opinion, a sovereign remedy for chapped hands and all irritation of the skin."

In thousands of families Williams' Shaving Soap has for years been regarded not only as an exquisite luxury, but also as indispensable for Toilet, Bath, and Nursery use.

This form of Williams' Shaving Soap is especially recommended for Toilet use. 6 round cakes (1 pound) to the package. By mail, 40c., if your dealer does not supply you.

Do you know the luxury of Williams' Shaving Soap for Toilet purposes? Wouldn't you like to? A sample is yours for a 2 cent stamp.

Superfluous Hair Removed

A growth of hair on the upper lip, also occasionally on the neck and arms, is the humiliation of many of my sex.

I suffered for years; tried, by actual count, eleven different advertised remedies, and submitted once to an electrical operation. Nothing was effective until I came across a preparation in a little hair-dressing shop in Paris, six years ago.

It removed the unsightly growth of hair, which had become thick and coarse on account of the frequent applications of advertised stuff, which removed the hair temporarily, but caused it to grow coarser than ever.

When I say that this certain Parisian preparation effected a permanent removal, I mean just as I say—permanent, for it has been six years since I first used it and there is no sign of a renewed growth yet.

I paid six hundred francs for the formula and have earned my living by selling this preparation ever since. I call it simply "Helen Markoe's Depilatory."

United States Health Reports (Vol. iv., No. 28, page 11) officially endorses as follows:

"Upon analysis we find Helen Markoe's preparation to contain such ingredients as will destroy follicle and otherwise permanently remove hair. Is harmless to skin."

A Ballad of Sapolio.

A young house-maid
Was sore afraid
That her mistress would let her go.
Tho' hard she worked,
And never shirked,
At cleaning she was s-l-o-w.

Now, all is bright,
Her heart is light,
For she's found ... Sapolio.

THE KAVA-KAVA SHRUB (Piper Methysticum.)

DISORDERS of the Kidneys and Bladder cause BRIGHT'S DISEASE, RHEUMATISM, GRAVEL, PAIN IN THE BACK, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, URINARY DISORDERS, DROPSY, etc. For these diseases a POSITIVE SPECIFIC CURE is found in a new botanical discovery, the wonderful KAVA-KAVA SHRUB, called by botanists, the piper methysticum, from the Ganges river, East India. It has the extraordinary record of 1200 hospital cures in 30 days. It acts directly on the Kidneys and cures by draining out of the Blood the poisonous Uric Acid, Urates, Lithates, etc., which cause the diseased conditions.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., of Washington, D. C., testifies in the Christian Advocate, that it completely cured him of Kidney and Bladder Disease of many years' standing. Hon. R. C. Wood, of Lowell, Ind., writes that in four weeks the Kava-Kava Shrub cured him of Kidney and Bladder disease of ten years' standing, and Rev. Thomas M. Owen, of West Pawlet, Vt., gives similar testimony. Many ladies testify to its wonderful curative powers in disorders peculiar to womanhood.

That you may judge of the value of this Great Specific for yourself, we will send you one Large Case by Mail FREE, only asking that when cured yourself you will recommend it to others. It is a Sure Specific and cannot fail. Address, The Church Kidney Cure Company, No. 409 Fourth Avenue, New York City. # Superfluous Hair Removed

A growth of hair on the upper lip, also occasionally on the neck and arms, is the humiliation of many of my sex.

I suffered for years; tried, by actual count, eleven different advertised remedies, and submitted once to an electrical operation. Nothing was effective until I came across a preparation in a little hair-dressing shop in Paris, six years ago.

It removed the unsightly growth of hair, which had become thick and coarse on account of the frequent applications of advertised stuff, which removed the hair temporarily, but caused it to grow coarser than ever.

When I say that this certain Parisian preparation effected a permanent removal, I mean just as I say—permanent, for it has been six years since I first used it and there is no sign of a renewed growth yet.

I paid six hundred francs for the formula and have earned my living by selling this preparation ever since. I call it simply "Helen Markoe's Depilatory."

United States Health Reports (Vol. iv., No. 28, page 11) officially endorses as follows:

"Upon analysis we find Helen Markoe's preparation to contain such ingredients as will destroy follicle and otherwise permanently remove hair. Is harmless to skin."

THE NATURAL BODY BRACE

Cures Female Weakness, Restores Health and Vigor, Makes Walking and Work Easy.

We receive thousands of letters similar to this:

Owensboro, Ky., Jan. 1, 1897.

"I wouldn't be without my brace, for it has cured me of all female troubles. Had suffered twelve years with laceration, ulceration, etc., with backache, headache, bearing down, constipation, painful menstruation, ovarian pains, etc. Have had Brace a year, and haven't been in bed an hour from any illness since.

Mrs. J. K. Hunter says the same and you can use our names if you wish. A young lady friend said to me not long ago: 'I don't care where I have a pain, the Brace relieves it.' Other friends have told me of their delight with the Brace."

BUFFALO LITHIA WATER

The Original Lithia Water.

Spring 1 and 2—in Diseases of Women.

The late J. Marion Sims, M. D., LL. D., the Father of Gynæcology, a short while before his death wrote:

"I have used in my practice the Water of Spring No. 2 of the BUFFALO LITHIA SPRINGS, of Mecklenburg County, Va., for several years past, and have, in many cases, found it highly beneficial."

Dr. Wm. T. Howard, Professor of Diseases of Women and Children in the University of Maryland, endorses these Waters in the highest terms.

"In all the affections peculiar to women that are remedial at all by mineral waters," and adds as follows: "If I were called upon to state from what mineral waters I have seen the greatest and most unmistakable amount of good accrue, in the largest number of cases in a general way, I would unhesitatingly say, the Buffalo Lithia Springs in Mecklenburg County, Va."

Dr. Thomas P. Atkinson, ex-President of the Medical Society of Virginia:

"In many of the Diseases of Women, especially in disturbed conditions of the Monthly Function, where unconnected with organic disease BUFFALO LITHIA WATER may be regarded as well nigh a specific."

George Halsted Boyland, M. A., M. D., Paris, France, Member of the Academy of Medicine of Paris:

"My experience with the BUFFALO LITHIA WATER convinces me that it is perhaps more than any other water in the world a specific for diseases of female pelvic organs. As a regulator of disturbed conditions of the monthly function, I know of nothing at all comparable to it."

Dr. William B. Towles, Professor of Anatomy and Materia Medica in the Medical Department of the University of Virginia:

"In the irregularities of young women BUFFALO LITHIA WATER in my experience has shown special and happy adaptation. I have witnessed some very remarkable results from its use in this class of cases where the most approved treatment of the profession had proved unavailing."

James B. McCaw, M. D., Professor of the Practice of Medicine in the Virginia Medical College at Richmond, reported two cases of great irritability of the uterus and bladder when all other treatment had failed—both local and general—which were very much relieved by the use of BUFFALO LITHIA WATER

The late Dr. O. F. Manson, of Richmond, Va., formerly Professor of General Pathology and Physiology in the Medical College of Virginia, referring to Spring No. 1:

"I have observed marked sanative effects from BUFFALO WATER, Spring No. 1, in some affections of women—Hysteria, Anæmia, Hypochondriasis, Cardiac Palpitations, etc."

BUFFALO LITHIA WATER is an undoubted, positive remedy for many of the most serious and most common ills that afflict mankind. It deserves the investigation of all who are in poor health. An illustrated book can be procured on request, containing the testimony of the most famous physicians of this country and Europe (men whose very names will impress you), as to the wonderful power of BUFFALO LITHIA WATER in Gout, Rheumatism, Bright's Disease, Gravel, Indigestion, Nervous Dyspepsia, Nervous Exhaustion, Malaria, Alcoholism, Eczema and Blood Disorders, Diseases of Women, etc. The list is long, but the testimony is stronger. If your health is not satisfactory, send for the book and judge for yourself. Springs open for Guests from June 15 to October 1.

The Book That Floored Kipling

Some time ago a visitor to Rudyard Kipling's home was surprised, upon entering the library, to find that world-renowned story writer stretched on the floor on an Oriental rug and entirely absorbed in an open book. So great was the visitor's curiosity to discover what volume could so enthrall Rudyard Kipling that upon accomplishing his business he put the question. He was told, to his astonishment, that it was the dictionary named below, and learned furthermore not only that Kipling considered the particular work the most useful book of reference in existence, but that to him it was a fascinating, profitable study as well. It was, in fact, not what this greatest of modern word painters had seen, or heard, or experienced, that made him so phenomenally successful, but his constant effort to fit the right word into the right place.

Every year the publishers of this country send back hundreds of thousands of stories as unavailable. Why? It is not, as is popularly supposed, because their writers lack the material, the plot, the incident necessary for a Kipling story. Nearly every one finds in his every-day life material for as original, absorbing, successful, and money-bringing stories as any that have ever been written, but it is the lack of power to put it into fascinating form—to fit the right word into the right place, that leads to failure. Their diamonds may be among the finest in the world, but they are in the rough—they lack the form, the finish, the polish that command a ready market.

Guy de Maupassant, another of the greatest of modern story writers, has said: "When you have an idea there is only one noun to express it, one verb to enforce it, one adjective to qualify it." The secret of successful authorship depends upon finding that right noun, right verb, right adjective. To accomplish this, would-be writers have often spent years in studying other authors, and thus unconsciously surrendered what individuality they possessed by adopting the style and form of others. With a copy of the remarkable book, Funk & Wagnalls Standard Dictionary, that so absorbed Kipling, any one of ordinary schooling who has a story to tell can teach himself to tell it—tell it well, tell it to sell. To any one interested in the subject of story telling for money, and in speaking and writing correctly, full particulars and specimen sheets of the new edition of the above-referred-to work (compiled by 247 of the most eminent scholars of the world at a cost of nearly one million dollars), which is now issued at a nominal price, will be sent free by addressing Ward & Gow, 511, 513, 515 Lincoln Bldg., New York.

If the penwritten story which this angry editor is vainly trying to decipher had been typewritten, its author would have received a check for $100, instead of a "respectfully declined" circular.

To Story Writers and Other Writers.

The present-day rush forces the present-day editor to give preference to present-day writing—and that's typewriting. That's why a fair story or letter plainly typewritten succeeds where a fine story or letter poorly penwritten fails.

The typewriter for Story Writers and all Other Writers is the American Ten Dollar Typewriter, which is as well made as the highest priced machines, only more simple.

It has stood the test of time. Five years without a competitor. 27,000 in use. Catalogue and samples of work free if you mention this magazine and address

THE AMERICAN TYPEWRITER CO.,

A $30,000 Library of Stories that are Stories.

The following offer comprises over 200 of the cleverest stories ever told, including the ten $2,000 prize stories, eight $1,000 prize stories, each original, complete, copyrighted, and published exclusively in The Black Cat, the whole forming a library of fascinating fiction, costing us nearly thirty thousand dollars in cash.

For $1.00 we will mail at once, postage paid, all back numbers of The Black Cat, from No. 1, October, 1895, to No. 41, April, 1898, inclusive (excepting February, 1896, August, 1896, and October, 1896, which are out of print), and ALSO mail monthly, as issued, one copy of The Black Cat, postage paid, from May, 1898, to December, 1898, inclusive. Address: The Shortstory Publishing Co., 144 High St., Boston, Mass.

We are distillers with a wide reputation of 30 years standing. Our whole enormous product is sold to consumers direct. We sell direct so that our whiskey may be pure when it reaches you. It is almost impossible to get pure whiskey from dealers. We have tens of thousands of customers who never buy elsewhere. A customer who once tries our whiskey is a customer always. We want more of them, and we make the following offer to get them:

We will send four full quart bottles of Hayner's Seven Year Old Double Copper Distilled Rye for $3.20, Express Prepaid. We ship in plain packages—no marks to indicate contents. When you get it and test it, if it isn't satisfactory return it at our expense, and we will return your $3.20. Such whiskey cannot be purchased elsewhere for less than $5.00.

We are the only distillers selling to consumers direct. Others who claim to be are only dealers. Our whiskey has our reputation behind it.

Superfluous Hair Removed

A growth of hair on the upper lip, also occasionally on the neck and arms, is the humiliation of many of my sex.

I suffered for years; tried, by actual count, eleven different advertised remedies, and submitted once to an electrical operation. Nothing was effective until I came across a preparation in a little hair-dressing shop in Paris, six years ago.

It removed the unsightly growth of hair, which had become thick and coarse on account of the frequent applications of advertised stuff, which removed the hair temporarily, but caused it to grow coarser than ever.

When I say that this certain Parisian preparation effected a permanent removal, I mean just as I say—permanent, for it has been six years since I first used it and there is no sign of a renewed growth yet.

I paid six hundred francs for the formula and have earned my living by selling this preparation ever since. I call it simply "Helen Markoe's Depilatory."

United States Health Reports (Vol. iv., No. 28, page 110) officially endorses as follows:

"Upon analysis we find Helen Markoe's preparation to contain such ingredients as will destroy follicle and otherwise permanently remove hair. Is harmless to skin."

I employ no agents, and give each patron my personal attention. Write for sealed private information to

THE SCOVILL & ADAMS COMPANY,

OF NEW YORK.

60 & 62 East Eleventh St. (5 doors from Broadway).

W. I. LINCOLN ADAMS, President.

A prominent New York manager has calculated that not more than two per cent. of the total population of this country ever attend the theater. The balance of its people are either at such a distance from the great centers of population that this is impossible, are opposed on principle to this form of amusement, or are not in a pecuniary position to afford it. The class that regard theatrical representations as objectionable on moral grounds is considerable, but is constantly decreasing under the force of broader education, and certainly does not exceed fifty per cent. Thus there remains a clear half of our seventy millions of citizens entirely without this essentially popular form of amusement.

The art of acting, reckoning out unreasonable prejudice and bigoted opposition, makes the broadest and strongest appeal to the natural instincts of the human race, of any of the arts, and between the harmless and elevating pleasure that it is capable of affording thirty-five millions of American citizens there stands only the bar of means and convenience. For pecuniary or geographical reasons they cannot go to the theater; the theater, therefore, must come to them. They must do for themselves what more fortunately situated people are able to have done for them. Their remedy is found in amateur theatricals.

It is our aim to provide suitable material in the way of plays and entertainments for this purpose; to supply dramas, cleanly in tone and practicable in character, for the use of children, young people or their elders, whether for simple amusement or for the furtherance of charitable ends; to furnish material which shall be effective and entertaining even in inexperienced hands, and shall contain nothing that can be objected to on grounds of propriety or taste.

We have been studying this problem for nearly thirty years, and offer in our catalogue, which we will send free to any address, a selected list of pieces which we believe will contain something suitable for all cases and nothing objectionable in any.

OUR $5.00 GIFT

To advertise our victorious plan of selling furniture from factory to fireside, we give absolutely free with every couch, as shown below, an elegant quadruple silver-plated teapot, guaranteed to be worth $5.00 and to wear for ten years. A certificate of warranty, signed by the manufacturer, accompanies each teapot.

Readers of this Publication Need Send No Money in Advance

If goods are found as represented and entirely satisfactory, remit $9, wholesale factory price of the couch alone, 30 days after shipment; if not return at our expense

WE OFFER this couch for trial orders because it's one of our greatest bargains. Full size, 29x72 in. Upholstered in finest grade imported figured corduroy or velours, any standard shade or color. Samples of covering free on request. Full set best springs. Spring edges and end. Deep biscuit tufted. Best wool fringe. The teapot is extra large, 10-in. high, 6-in. diameter. Fine stipple finish and elaborately engraved. If you prefer, we will send, in lieu of the teapot, a syrup cup and plate, butter dish, or sugar bowl of the same high-grade ware, and fully warranted for ten years. Order to-day. Don't put it off. All that's necessary is to say that you're a reader of this publication (this is important), that you accept our Sample Offer No. 4 on 30 days' trial, state color of upholstering and premium desired, and give full shipping directions.

A New Cure for Kidney and Bladder Diseases, Rheumatism, etc.— Free to our Readers,

Mr. R. C. Wood, Lowell, Ind.

DISORDERS of the Kidneys and Bladder cause BRIGHT'S DISEASE, RHEUMATISM, GRAVEL, PAIN IN THE BACK, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, URINARY DISORDERS, DROPSY, etc. For these diseases a POSITIVE SPECIFIC CURE is found in a new botanical discovery, the wonderful KAVA-KAVA SHRUB, called by botanists, the piper methysticum, from the Ganges river, East India. It has the extraordinary record of 1200 hospital cures in 30 days. It acts directly on the Kidneys and cures by draining out of the Blood the poisonous Uric Acid, Urates, Lithates, etc., which cause the diseased conditions.

Rev. A. C. Darling, of North Constantia, New York, testifies in the Christian Witness that it cured him of Kidney disease after sixteen years' suffering. Hon. R. C. Wood, of Lowell, Ind., writes that in four weeks the Kava-Kava Shrub cured him of Kidney and Bladder disease of ten years' standing, and Rev. Thomas M. Owen, of West Pawlet, Vt., gives similar testimony. Many ladies also testify to its wonderful curative powers in disorders peculiar to womanhood.

That you may judge of the value of this Great Specific for yourself, we will send you one Large Case by Mail FREE, only asking that when cured yourself you will recommend it to others. It is a Sure Specific and cannot fail. Address, The Church Kidney Cure Company, No. 409 Fourth Avenue, New York City. Captol
(REGISTERED)
The Unrivaled Hair Tonic
The Captol Hair Tonic is a new and invaluable discovery made by the well-known authority on diseases of the scalp, Dr. P. J. Eichhoff, Professor of Dermatology, Elberfeld, Germany, and is highly recommended by him as a most effective specific for cleansing, refreshing and strengthening the scalp and stimulating the nerves of the head. Captol completely eradicates scurf and dandruff in 10 to 14 days, and is a sure preventive of baldness. (See Deutsche Medicin. Wochenschrift, 1897, No. 41.)

Saving Middlemen's Profits, Preventing Possibility of Adulteration.

We are distillers with a wide reputation of thirty years' standing. We sell to consumers direct so that our whiskey may be pure when it reaches you. Adulterated whiskey is dangerous, abominable, yet it is almost impossible to get pure whiskey from dealers. We have tens of thousands of customers who never buy elsewhere. We want more of them, and we make this offer to get them:

We will send four full quart bottles of Hayner's Seven Year Old Double Copper Distilled Rye for $3.20, Express Prepaid. We ship in plain packages — no marks to indicate contents, (which will avoid possible comment). When you get it and test it, if it isn't satisfactory return it at our expense and we will return your $3.20. Such whiskey cannot be purchased elsewhere for less than $5.00.

We are the only distillers selling to consumers direct. Others who claim to be are only dealers. Our whiskey has our reputation behind it.

The Country

The Reason:—"The Black Cat meets, and fills, the requirement of intelligent readers of fiction for ingeniously devised and cleverly written short stories, off the lines of the literary analytical chemistry and the dreary dialect maunderings into which the short story of the older magazines has drifted in a great measure. In the present state of magazine fiction the choice is too often between trash from the 'beacon lights' of literature, and bright, attractive work from unpretentious amateurs. The rational preference is obvious, and The Black Cat has stepped in to satisfy it."

"I suffered from constipation which assumed such an obstinate form that I feared it would cause a stoppage of the bowels. After vainly trying various remedies, I began to take Ayer's Pills. Two boxes effected a complete cure." D. BURKE, Saco, Maine.

"For eight years I was afflicted with constipation, which at last became so bad that the doctors could do no more for me. Then I began to take Ayer's Pills, and soon the bowels recovered their natural and regular action."

To publish the most original, the most unusual, the most fascinating short stories that skill and genius can produce and money can buy; to publish such stories in the cleanest, handiest, and most attractive form; to present concentrated quality rather than padded quantity — this is the aim of The Black Cat, which has been termed "the story-telling hit of the century." It publishes no serial stories, no translations, no borrowings, no stealings. It pays nothing for the name or reputation of a writer, but the highest price on record for stories that are stories, and it pays, not according to length, but according to strength.

Each month's issue contains 5 complete, original stories and costs 5 cents. Of newsdealers everywhere. By mail, of the undersigned, 50 cents a year, postpaid.

Subscribe now and you will receive, in addition to the $4,000 prize stories, 48 of the cleverest tales ever told.

A Strange New Shrub that Cures Kidney and Bladder Diseases, Rheumatism, etc.—Free.

Mrs. James Young, Kent, O.

DISORDERS of the Kidneys and Bladder cause BRIGHT'S DISEASE, RHEUMATISM, GRAVEL, PAIN IN THE BACK, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, URINARY DISORDERS, DROPSY, etc. For these diseases a POSITIVE SPECIFIC CURE is found in a new botanical discovery, the wonderful KAVA-KAVA SHRUB, called by botanists, the piper methysticum, from the Ganges river, East India. It has the extraordinary record of 1200 hospital cures in 30 days. It acts directly on the Kidneys and cures by draining out of the Blood the poisonous Uric Acid, Urates, Lithates, etc., which cause the diseased conditions.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., of Washington, D. C., testifies in the Christian Advocate, that it completely cured him of Kidney and Bladder Disease of many years' standing. Hon. R. C. Wood, of Lowell, Ind., writes that in four weeks the Kava-Kava Shrub cured him of Kidney and Bladder disease of ten years' standing. Many ladies, including Mrs. James Young, of Kent, Ohio, and Mrs. Alice Evans, of Baltimore, Md., testify to its wonderful curative powers in Kidney and other disorders peculiar to womanhood.

That you may judge of the value of this Great Specific for yourself, we will send you one Large Case by Mail FREE, only asking that when cured yourself you will recommend it to others. It is a Sure Specific and cannot fail. Address, The Church Kidney Cure Company, No. 409 Fourth Avenue, New York City. Mention this paper.

Superfluous Hair Removed

A growth of hair on the upper lip, also occasionally on the neck and arms, is the humiliation of many of my sex.

I suffered for years; tried, by actual count, eleven different advertised remedies, and submitted once to an electrical operation. Nothing was effective until I came across a preparation in a little hair-dressing shop in Paris, six years ago.

It removed the unsightly growth of hair, which had become thick and coarse on account of the frequent applications of advertised stuff, which removed the hair temporarily, but caused it to grow coarser than ever.

When I say that this certain Parisian preparation effected a permanent removal, I mean just as I say—permanent, for it has been six years since I first used it and there is no sign of a renewed growth yet.

I paid six hundred francs for the formula and have earned my living by selling this preparation ever since. I call it simply "Helen Markoe's Depilatory."

United States Health Reports (Vol. iv., No. 28, page 11) officially endorses as follows:

"Upon analysis we find Helen Markoe's preparation to contain such ingredients as will destroy follicle and otherwise permanently remove hair. Is harmless to skin."

I employ no agents, and give each patron my personal attention. Write for sealed private information to

The Only Dandruff Cure

The Captol Hair Tonic is a new and invaluable discovery made by the well-known authority on diseases of the scalp, Dr. P. J. Eichhoff, Professor of Dermatology, Elberfeld, Germany.

Captol completely eradicates scurf and dandruff in 10 to 14 days, and is a sure preventive of baldness.

(See Deutsche Medicin Wochenschrift, 1897, No. 41.)

Experience has shown that all other specifics recommended for these purposes have proved failures.

BUFFALO LITHIA WATER

Uric Acid Poisoning Associated with Nervous Prostration, Insomnia, Epilepsy and Insanity.

NATURE'S ANTIDOTE.

William A. Hammond, M. D., Washington, D. C., Surgeon-General U. S. Army (retired), formerly Professor of Diseases of the Mind and Nervous System in the University of New York, etc.:

"It is well known that many cases of diseases of the nervous system are complicated with Lithæmia, and that unless this condition is removed a cure is very often retarded, and not infrequently entirely prevented. It is quite commonly the case that in Cerebral Congestion producing Insomnia, Nervous Prostration, resulting from over-mental work or much emotional disturbance, and in Epilepsy (to say nothing of many cases of insanity) an excess of uric acid in the blood is often observed. This state appears to be altogether independent of the character of the food, for no matter how careful the physician may be in regard to the diet of his patient, the lithæmic condition continues. I have tried to overcome this persistence by the use of phosphate of ammonia and other so-called solvents for uric acid, but without notable effect.

"Several years ago, however, I began to treat such cases with BUFFALO LITHIA WATER with a result that was as astonishing to me as it was beneficial to the patient, so that now in all cases of nervous diseases under my charge in which there is an excess of uric acid in the blood, I use the BUFFALO LITHIA WATER in large quantities.

"I have also for some time made use of the BUFFALO LITHIA WATER in cases of affections of the nervous system, complicated with Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, or with a gouty diathesis. The results have been eminently satisfactory. Lithia has for many years been a favorite remedy with me in like cases, but the BUFFALO WATER certainly acts better than an extemporaneous solution of the Lithia Salts, and is, moreover, better borne by the stomach; and as a matter of prime importance it is not to be forgotten that the composition of the BUFFALO LITHIA WATER is such, and the experience of its use so complete, that no doubt exists of its great power, not only as a solvent for calculi already in the bladder, but of the diseases of such calculi existing in the blood."

BUFFALO LITHIA WATER

OF INTEREST TO ALL READERS.

A few months ago we organized the WOMEN'S IDEAS CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION. It was successful from the start and we have now enrolled many thousand members. The interest has become widespread and we propose this coming month to make special inducements to secure new members. The entire cost of membership is 25 cents which entitles the applicant to a certificate of membership, free information and advice of our employment department which secures paying positions to our members for home work like envelope addressing, flower making, newspaper work, art, etc. Our Astrological Department conducted by ADLIS, the renowned astrologer, who gives every member a horoscope reading, (give exact date of birth so we can send same with present), subscription to our magazine, of our literary, social, medical and other features. There are no other dues or costs of any nature.

OUR SPECIAL GIFT TO NEW MEMBERS.

To influence new applicants we propose presenting everyone sending 25 cents (membership fee) one of our beautiful Solid Gold Shell Dageria Diamond Rings. The Dageria Diamond has few equals and forever presents a most beautiful appearance, glistening in the light and sending forth its superb scintillations like a minature sun. It is an attraction for the eyes of all beholders, a jewel for either sex. You can wash the Dageria Gems and wear them forever, as they will always retain their brilliancy. In ordering state size by sending strip of paper that fits around finger.

A HANDSOME LA TOSCA SILK FINISHED DRESS

State shade desired, (for Evening, Street or Mourning wear) will also be given to every member sending us names of ten friends who they think will become members to our Association. Samples and particulars sent with ring and other benefits.

MALE MEMBERS.—Although most of our members are women, we have many hundreds of male members, so heartily extend our benefits, premiums and use of departments to all male applicants.

INSTRUCTIONS.—Remit membership fee, 25 cents by silver carefully wrapped or one cent stamps which covers entire cost of Membership Certificate, Subscription to Magazine, our Valuable Gifts, Recipes, Astrological Horoscope, Employment Bureau, and all other advantages of Association without any further cost. # 41 lbs. of Fat

Dr. Edison's Obesity Pills and Reducing Tablets Rid Mrs. Mary Elliott Jaynes of 41 Pounds of Fat in Six Weeks—Free Samples.

"I WAS GROWING FLESHY VERY FAST," writes Mrs. Mary Elliott Jaynes, from her home on Fifth Ave., New York, "and knew I must have relief or get past help. I consulted my physician, and he told me Dr. Edison's Obesity Pills and Reducing Tablets would reduce my fat and weight safely and permanently. These remedies took off thirty-six pounds in six weeks and cured me of chronic liver trouble, besides restoring my form entirely."

Dr. Edison's Obesity Pills and Reducing Tablets are perfectly harmless, and strengthen and invigorate all who use them. Obesity Pills, $1.50 a bottle; 3 bottles, $4—enough for one treatment. Reducing Tablets, $2 a box. Dr. Edison's Remedies are sweet, palatable, and handy to take. Obesity is sometimes caused and is usually accompanied by digestive derangements, rheumatism, and heart disease.

Dr. Edison's Obesity Remedies cure all those chronic diseases which cause and accompany Obesity.

..THE New Shoe for Women

THE trouble with a woman's feet is, that she does not treat them properly—They spread without any necessity for so doing. At 20 she wears twos or threes;—at 30 fours and at 40 fives. Her feet do not grow, but they have been shod in the wrong way, and they have spread. She has worn unnatural shapes in shoes which have directed her feet muscles in wrong directions. Since women wore shoes, they, the shoes, have been built on lasts that were scientifically wrong, and it is only recently that a great shoe concern had the courage to start in the right direction. Strange as it may seem, the first people to appreciate this innovation was a body of the most stylish women in the country. So the shoe was christened in honor of their Society, the SOROSIS.

To-day half the fashionable people on either side of the Atlantic are wearing shoes made on this pattern, and the other half are fast getting into line. Since Fashion has set her stamp of approval on the SOROSIS Shoe, as the Extreme of Style and the Perfection of Comfort, the manufacturers have spared no effort to make this shoe thoroughly first class in every respect. The material used is the best that can be procured, and the workmanship and finish are unsurpassed in any shoe on the market. Made in black or tan, lace or button, and in all widths and sizes.

If you cannot find the SOROSIS at your dealer's, send us your size, width and style, together with price ($3.50), and we will send you a pair prepaid; or send for catalogue, which we will mail you for the asking, and select the style you wish.

A. E. Little & Co.,

52 BLAKE ST., LYNN, Mass.

NOTE.—When the instep of a foot is tired, strip the feet, and put on a pair of light stockings. Then lie down, turn upon the face, and spread out the foot until the instep rests entire upon a pillow; thus the muscles rest and strengthen, and the foot preserves that arch which is natural to it.

The wearer of a SOROSIS SHOE has rarely need for this advice, as the shoe rests the foot, instead of tiring it, because it is built on the actual lines of the natural foot.

Name SOROSIS is branded into the sole of every shoe.

Superfluous

Hair Removed

A growth of hair on the upper lip, also occasionally on the neck and arms, is the humiliation of many of my sex.

I suffered for years; tried, by actual count, eleven different advertised remedies, and submitted once to an electrical operation. Nothing was effective until I came across a preparation in a little hair-dressing shop in Paris, six years ago.

It removed the unsightly growth of hair, which had become thick and coarse on account of the frequent applications of advertised stuff, which removed the hair temporarily, but caused it to grow coarser than ever.

When I say that this certain Parisian preparation effected a permanent removal, I mean just as I say—permanent, for it has been six years since I first used it and there is no sign of a renewed growth yet.

I paid six hundred francs for the formula and have earned my living by selling this preparation ever since. I call it simply "Helen Markoe's Depilatory."

United States Health Reports (Vol. iv., No. 28, page 11) officially endorses as follows:

"Upon analysis we find Helen Markoe's preparation to contain such ingredients as will destroy follicle and otherwise permanently remove hair. Is harmless to skin."

I employ no agents, and give each patron my personal attention. Write for sealed private information to

THE NATURAL BODY BRACE

Cures Female Weakness, Restores Health and Vigor, Makes Walking and Work Easy.

We receive thousands of letters similar to this:

Owensboro, Ky., Jan. 1, 1897.

"I wouldn't be without my brace, for it has cured me of all female troubles. Had suffered twelve years with laceration, ulceration, etc., with backache, headache, bearing down, constipation, painful menstruation, ovarian pains, etc. Have had Brace a year, and haven't been in bed an hour from any illness since. Mrs. J. K. Hunter says the same and you can use our names if you wish. A young lady friend said to me not long ago: 'I don't care where I have a pain, the Brace relieves it.' Other friends have told me of their delight with the Brace."

The Only Dandruff Cure

The Captol Hair Tonic is a new and invaluable discovery made by the well-known authority on diseases of the scalp, Dr. P. J. Eichhoff, Professor of Dermatology, Elberfeld, Germany.

Captol completely eradicates scurf and dandruff in 10 to 14 days, and is a sure preventive of baldness.

(See Deutsche Medicin. Wochenschrift, 1897, No. 41.)

Experience has shown that all other specifics recommended for these purposes have proved failures.

The Cat
that Captured
The Country

The Reason:—"The Black Cat meets, and fills, the requirement of intelligent readers of fiction for ingeniously devised and cleverly written short stories, off the lines of the literary analytical chemistry and the dreary dialect maunderings into which the short story of the older magazines has drifted in a great measure. In the present state of magazine fiction the choice is too often between trash from the 'beacon lights' of literature, and bright, attractive work from unpretentious amateurs. The rational preference is obvious, and The Black Cat has stepped in to satisfy it."

Hall's Hair Renewer

What does it do? It feeds the hair bulbs, gives them new life, arouses them to action.

With what result? The natural color is restored to gray and faded hair. The hair ceases to fall out, and rapidly thickens. Dandruff disappears, not to return again. Send for our illustrated book.

"I Never Used It."

"I have used Hall's Hair Renewer for the last thirty-five years, and I know it will do all that it is recommended to do. It will restore the color, cure dandruff, and prevent the hair from falling out. I believe I would to-day be bald-headed and gray if it had not been for the use of Hall's Hair Renewer. It will certainly restore the color, and I don't hesitate to recommend it."—R. M. TUCKER, M.D., Helena, Ala.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send one dollar to R. P. Hall & Co., Nashua, N. H.

consider the facts, that such adulterations as have been alleged could only be made out of sheer perversity and would be in plain contravention of the business interests of the manufacturers.

Ignorance of easily ascertainable scientific facts is, however, common enough, as is often illustrated by the brown, oily material formed in the smoking of tobacco being pointed out as nicotine, though in reality this is merely the tar produced by the action of heat on the woody fiber of the leaf.

Nicotine when pure is a colorless fluid of somewhat oily consistence and strong, peculiar, penetrating odor, but it darkens on exposure to air and light, becoming first yellow and then brown, so that it looks, in this darkened condition, something like the tarry matter which soils a smoker's fingers or a handkerchief through which tobacco smoke is exhaled, or is often noticed as deposited in the stem of a pipe. This tarry deposit has nothing essential in common with nicotine, and contains but traces of this alkaloid, when any at all. A part, but only a small part (about one seventh in the experiments of Melsens), of the real nicotine of tobacco is volatilized without decomposition; the remainder is burned and destroyed in the process of smoking.

The sensational statements occasionally made in regard to arsenic, copper, etc., as present in the paper wrappers would be at once seen to be grossly improbable if it were but remembered that the wrapper of a single cigarette weighs little more than half a grain, and that in such a minute quantity of thin, delicate white paper there could be introduced but infinitesimal amounts of such foreign adulterants without their presence becoming perceptible to common observation by the senses, aside from the positive scientific evidence that they are not present.

The simple facts are, that such cigarettes as I have examined, representing a large part of those in general use throughout the United States, are made from pure, light-yellow tobacco of the high grade produced on certain special soils, prominently in certain of the southern counties of Virginia and the adjacent portion of North Carolina, with wrappers of the best quality of harmless vegetable fiber paper, and are entirely free from the adulterants which it has been asserted are present, with no evidence in favor of such assertion, and in absolute contradiction of the scientific evidence actually available.

I am, sir,

Your obedient servant,

(Signed) J. W. MALLET,
Charlotteville, Va.

A Piano at a Nominal Price.

Chicago's leading music house and the largest music house in the world, Lyon & Healy, has just bought for a fraction of its cost, the entire stock of Lyon, Potter & Co., who retire from business. These splendid pianos are offered without reserve until all are sold. In this stock is a large number of new Steinway pianos, and hundreds of new and second-hand pianos, including instruments of the following well-known makes: Sterling, Huntington, Chase, Vose, Fischer, Weber, Chickering, Lyon, Webster, Briggs, Hardman, Kurtzman, Behning, etc., etc. In Square Pianos there are fine-toned instruments of all the leading makes at $25, $40, $60, and upwards. In Upright Pianos neat instruments at $100, $120, $140, $150, $165, $190, $200, and upwards. In Parlor and Concert Grands some nice specimens at $250, and upwards. Nearly all these pianos were intended to sell for at least double these closing-out sale prices. This is an opportunity that will not occur again, as the firm of Lyon, Potter & Co. carried one of the finest piano stocks in the country. Immediate attention is therefore necessary. A good plan would be to order a piano, leaving the selection of it to Lyon & Healy. However, they will send a list and full particulars upon application. Any piano not proving entirely satisfactory may be returned at their expense. Address simply, Lyon & Healy, Chicago. Distance is no obstacle in taking advantage of this remarkable chance to obtain a piano, for in proportion to the saving to be made the freight charges are insignificant. If you do not already know Lyon & Healy by reputation any banker will assure you of their entire responsibility and record of over a third of a century for honorable dealing. Write to-day so as to avoid disappointment.

Superfluous Hair Removed

A growth of hair on the upper lip, also occasionally on the neck and arms, is the humiliation of many of my sex.

I suffered for years; tried, by actual count, eleven different advertised remedies, and submitted once to an electrical operation. Nothing was effective until I came across a preparation in a little hair-dressing shop in Paris, six years ago.

It removed the unsightly growth of hair, which had become thick and coarse on account of the frequent applications of advertised stuff, which removed the hair temporarily, but caused it to grow coarser than ever.

When I say that this certain Parisian preparation effected a permanent removal, I mean just as I say—permanent, for it has been six years since I first used it and there is no sign of a renewed growth yet.

I paid six hundred francs for the formula and have earned my living by selling this preparation ever since. I call it simply "Helen Markoe's Depilatory."

United States Health Reports (Vol. iv., No. 28, page 11) officially endorses as follows:

"Upon analysis we find Helen Markoe's preparation to contain such ingredients as will destroy follicle and otherwise permanently remove hair. Is harmless to skin."

I employ no agents, and give each patron my personal attention. Write for sealed private information to

The Only Dandruff Cure

The Captol Hair Tonic is a new and invaluable discovery made by the well-known authority on diseases of the scalp, Dr. P. J. Elchhoff, Professor of Dermatology, Elberfeld, Germany.

Captol completely eradicates scurf and dandruff in 10 to 14 days, and is a sure preventive of baldness.

(See Deutsche Medicin, Wochenschrift, 1897, No. 41.)

Experience has shown that all other specifics recommended for these purposes have proved failures.

For $1 we will mail postpaid, all numbers as above, and one copy of The Black Cat from July '98 to Jan. '99. Lovers of real prize stories, Mystery, Adventure, Humorous, Love, Detective, etc., will find this a veritable Library of Fascinating Fiction. Address The Shortstory Publishing Co., Boston, Mass., U. S. A.
The Cat that Captured The Country

The Reason:—"The Black Cat meets, and fills, the requirement of intelligent readers of fiction for ingeniously devised and cleverly written short stories, off the lines of the literary analytical chemistry and the dreary dialect maunderings into which the short story of the older magazines has drifted in a great measure. In the present state of magazine fiction the choice is too often between trash from the 'beacon lights' of literature, and bright, attractive work from unpretentious amateurs. The rational preference is obvious, and The Black Cat has stepped in to satisfy it."

When I was 22 years old

I lost my hair entirely. I had the best medical treatment at home, and consulted physicians personally in St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati, and Fort Worth with no success. By accident I got some of your medicine, and before I had used two bottles my hair began to grow, which now hangs below my waist and is soft and healthy. When it became known my hair had grown out my husband had numerous letters of inquiry, wanting his receipt and offering to pay largely for it. We simply replied to all, "Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer did the work," and I know of no case that it has failed to give the best results.— Mrs. G. A. MATTHEWS, Weatherford, Texas.

Hall's Hair Renewer Restores Color

When the nerves are made more active and the blood supply increased, then the natural coloring matter is again deposited in the hair.

Hall's Hair Renewer Removes Dandruff

When the diseased scalp is thoroughly healed, then this forerunner of baldness will be cured. Once removed in this way, it never returns.

Hall's Hair Renewer Checks Falling

A sign of weakness. The starved hair needs feeding. The hair bulbs must be invigorated. When made strong, hair ceases to fall.

Hall's Hair Renewer Cures Baldness

Even a little spark of vitality in the hair bulbs may be awakened into full life, and bring forth abundant, luxuriant hair.

Hall's Hair Renewer Hastens Growth

Remove the obstacles, give nature a little lift at the start, and the hair cannot help but grow. It does only what is natural for it to do.

For Church Fairs or other Money-Getting Enterprises.

Henry's Comic Menagerie.

(Copyright, 1898, by Walter H. Baker & Co.)

From thirty to one hundred dollars per night can be made through this exhibition as a side attraction to a church fair, bazaar, or other entertainment. It consists of a complete outfit for a burlesque menagerie, with comic descriptive lecture and full instructions for setting up and working. Requires a space 28 ft. long by 6 ft. wide, and will go in any room 12 ft. high. Elephant, Giraffe, Lion, Monkey, and the Green-Eyed Monster, not hitherto described, all with working parts, very funny and life-like. Send for descriptive circular giving details and terms.

We are now booking time for this attraction, and persons having such entertainments in view will do well to make an early application for this novel and amusing feature, as the expense of its scenery and animals, which are carefully made and very realistic, prevents its being duplicated profitably. Every lessee may therefore rely upon having it exclusively for their time and locality.

SUPERFLUOUS

PERMANENTLY REMOVED.

I suffered for years with a humiliating growth of hair on my face, and tried many remedies without success; but I ultimately discovered the true secret for permanent removal of hair, and for six years have been applying my treatment to others, thereby rendering happiness to, and gaining thanks of thousands of ladies.

I assert, and will prove to you, that my depilatory treatment will destroy the follicle and otherwise permanently remove the hair forever. No trace is left on the skin after using, and the treatment can be applied privately by yourself in your own chamber.

If you are troubled, write to me for further information, and I will convince you of all I claim. I will give prompt personal and strictly confidential attention to your letter. Being a woman, I know of the delicacy of such a matter as this and act accordingly. Address, inclosing two stamps. Mention you saw this in THE BLACK CAT.

Cures Female Weakness, Restores Health and Vigor, Makes Walking and Work Easy.

We receive thousands of letters similar to this:

Owensboro, Ky., Jan. 1, 1897.

"I wouldn't be without my brace, for it has cured me of all female troubles. Had suffered twelve years with laceration, ulceration, etc., with backache, headache, bearing down, constipation, painful menstruation, ovarian pains, etc. Have had Brace a year, and haven't been in bed an hour from any illness since. Mrs. J. K. Hunter says the same and you can use our names if you wish. A young lady friend said to me not long ago: 'I don't care where I have a pain, the Brace relieves it.' Other friends have told me of their delight with the Brace."

The Cat
that Captured
The Country

The Reason:—"The Black Cat meets, and fills, the requirement of intelligent readers of fiction for ingeniously devised and cleverly written short stories, off the lines of the literary analytical chemistry and the dreary dialect maunderings into which the short story of the older magazines has drifted in a great measure. In the present state of magazine fiction the choice is too often between trash from the 'beacon lights' of literature, and bright, attractive work from unpretentious amateurs. The rational preference is obvious, and The Black Cat has stepped in to satisfy it."

THIS BUSINESS ADVERTISES ITSELF.

One of the unique features of the New York Central's "Lake Shore Limited" is the fact that it advertises itself.

The magnificence of the service and completeness of detail makes every patron an advertiser of its merits.

It is estimated that every person who travels by this train brings at least a dozen new patrons.

"The Lake Shore Limited" leaves Grand Central Station, New York, every afternoon at 5.00, and arrives Chicago via Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railway the next afternoon at 4.00.

Returning, leaves Chicago 5.30 P. M. each day, arrives New York 6.30 next afternoon.

The New York Central has issued a booklet descriptive of "The Lake Shore Limited," which also contains an epitome of what may be seen from the Observation Car as the train progresses on its daily run between New York and Chicago. Send for a copy to George H. Daniels, General Passenger Agent, Grand Central Station, New York.

FROM EVERY VIEW POINT.

In traveling, the four most important points to be considered are safety, punctuality of service, comfort, and speed. The Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway combines them all. Its road-bed and equipment surpass those of any other railway in America. And the fact that the United States Government has selected this road for the fast mail trains proves that punctuality and speed are part of its daily routine.

If you contemplate a trip between Buffalo and Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago, or points in the West and Southwest, be sure and travel over the Lake Shore.

You feel its drawing, soothing, strengthening power at once.

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS A BOTTLE.

Doctor Morrell, of London, one of the vice-presidents of the International Medical Congress at Washington, when asked by a cabinet officer, "What advice can you give a person who is a martyr to dyspepsia?" drew forth his card and wrote:—

"Eat Salads instead of Sweets," and added by way of directions, "see that your salads are properly dressed."

The soundness of this advice is proved by the fact that the salad-eating nations of the world are strangers to our national complaint.

Vegetable salads act like a safety valve upon the human system. They carry off the excess of heat, cool the blood, nourish the nerves, and form nutrition for the whole body. Some of our choicest vegetables, when eaten raw, in the form of properly dressed salads, retain valuable health-giving elements which are entirely lost when the vegetables are cooked.

It would be difficult to find in the United States a family that cannot afford a daily salad of either lettuce, celery, potatoes, radishes, carrots, cucumbers, cress, beans, or peas; and, if the wholesomeness of salads were rightly appreciated by Americans, and the simple way of rendering them palatable properly understood, salads would soon supersede pie, and aid millions of ailing men and women in making rapid strides up the hill of health.

But, just as some people are "covered but not clothed," so most salads are "messed but not dressed." A dash too much of this or a drop too little of that, and the salad is spoiled. And, just as the best-fitting clothes are made by those who make a specialty of clothes making, so the best salad dressing is made by the house with whom the making of salad dressing has for years been a study, and which possesses unlimited facilities for procuring the finest condiments in the world, and insuring absolute perfection.

Durkee's Salad Dressing

has, by reason of its purity, palatableness, and perfection of combination, achieved a world-wide reputation, and the family that once uses it will gladly substitute salads for sweets.

"How to Make Salads and Dress Them" is the title of a booklet which gives many valuable and novel recipes for salads, sandwiches, sauces, luncheon dishes, etc. A copy will be mailed free for the asking. A sample of Durkee's Salad Dressing delivered free to any address upon the receipt of ten cents. E. R. DURKEE & CO., 157 Water St., New York.

Wonderful Invention

Tones Every Organ and Nerve in the System

Every home should have our New Improved Thermal Vapor Bath Cabinet (recently patented). It opens the several million pores all over the body, and sweats out of the system all impure and poisonous matter which causes disease. Gives absolute cleanliness and, without medicine, keeps the body healthy and vigorous. Will cure a hard cold and break up all symptoms of typhoid and other fevers with one bath. Reduces surplus flesh; cures rheumatism and all blood, skin, nerve, kidney diseases. You will have all the invigorating, cleansing and purifying effects of the most luxurious Turkish, hot-air, or medicated bath at a trifling cost.

The Rev. J. W. Bailey, D. D., Topeka, Kans., recommends this Thermal Bath Cabinet highly for nervous diseases. S. R. May, Haven, Kans., suffered fifteen years with rheumatism. After using our Bath Cabinet a short time he was entirely cured. Dr. Wm. F. Holcombe, one of New York's ablest and best known specialists, recommends this Cabinet for Bright's disease and all kidney troubles, and also says it is the greatest cure known for pneumonia.

Ladies should have our Complexion Steamer, used in conjunction with the Cabinet, in which the face is given the same vapor treatment as the body. The only harmless and sure method of drawing away all impurities, leaving the skin clear and soft as velvet. It is the only cure for pimples, blotches, and other disfiguring sores and blemishes. Invaluable for the successful treatment of Catarrh and Asthma.

The Foot-ball Pillow-cover.

This striking and original design is just now quite the popular and "swagger" thing among feminine admirers of manly sport. By our wonderful new process of reproducing colors upon textile fabrics, the official colors of the famous colleges on their respective flags, and the foot-ball on a sky-blue background—as if flying through space—are perfectly reproduced in all their delicate colorings, upon fine, strong cloth all ready to put together. (They are not to be worked.)

CAUTION.

The unprecedented popularity of the IMPROVED GRAMOPHONE (ZON-O-PHONE), as a means of entertainment has led to many attempts at imitation, some of which are most unscrupulous; but the principles upon which the GRAMOPHONE is constructed are covered by patents so broad that anything of the same nature approaching it in excellence must be an infringement, and as such will be promptly prosecuted.

This applies not only to manufacturers and dealers, but to USERS; and, pending suits already brought, the public are warned against purchasing that which may cause them much annoyance.

Price of the Improved Gramophone (Zon-o-phone) is $25. Records, 50 cents. For further information, printed matter, etc., address

NATIONAL GRAM-O-PHONE CO., 874 Broadway, New York.

SPECIAL HOLIDAY OFFER. Subscribers to THE BLACK CAT can obtain the Zon-o-phone (improved Gramophone) AT ONCE, by the payment of $8 cash and $3 per month for six months. as an all-the-year-round holiday gift than a subscription to

The Black Cat

50 Cents a Year.

THE BLACK CAT introduced a new departure in story telling, unique, fascinating, attractive, original.—New York Tribune.

THE BLACK CAT presents more entertaining fiction for 5 cents than a whole year's subscription to other magazines secures.—Manchester Union.

If you find it in THE BLACK CAT it's a story that IS a story.—Baltimore American.

It is refreshing to pick up a copy of THE BLACK CAT, and read such vivid and original stories. A magazine that is maintaining such a high order of literature, and is doing so much to encourage and support American authorship, should be issued weekly. THE BLACK CAT certainly has brought out some powerful short-story writers.—The Journalist.

THE BLACK CAT is the story-telling hit of the century.—San Francisco Chronicle.

To tell, and tell well, in a few pages what nine out of ten stories tell poorly in half a dozen instalments; to give the people nothing but what is clean and yet exhilarating, and to present itself every month in such handsome shape and handy size that a quiet sense of comfort goes with the compactness, completeness, and originality of its contributions; to show no regard for name and fame of author, things so heavily banked on by other publishers for the allurement and beguilement of the public; to pay the right writers of the right stories the highest prices ever paid for short stories—all this, and more, has been the ambition, the mission, and the achievement of THE BLACK CAT.—New York Press.

Direct From Distiller To Consumer

$3.20 EXPRESS PAID.

Saving Middlemen's Profits, Preventing Possibility of Adulteration.

We are distillers with a wide reputation of 30 years standing. Our whole enormous product is sold to consumers direct. We sell direct so that our whiskey may be pure when it reaches you. For medicinal purposes adulterated whiskey is dangerous. For sideboard purposes it is abominable, yet it is almost impossible to get pure whiskey from dealers. We have tens of thousands of customers who never buy elsewhere. A customer who once tries our whiskey is a customer always. We want more of them, and we make the following offer to get them:

We will send four full quart bottles of Hayner's Seven Year Old Double Copper Distilled Rye for $3.20, Express Prepaid. We ship in plain packages—no marks to indicate contents (which will avoid possible comment). When you get it and test it, if it isn't satisfactory return it at our expense and we will return your $3.20. Such whiskey can not be purchased elsewhere for less than $5.00.

We are the only distillers selling to consumers direct. Others who claim to be are dealers, buying and selling. Our whiskey has our reputation behind it.

A Chance to Become Famous and Rich.

Winfield S. Stratton, the bonanza king of Colorado, was a carpenter. Knew nothing of mining until one day he received a small collection of minerals; the curious character and different appearance from the general rocks of the country was impressed upon his mind. In 1894 he took a trip over the country now called Cripple Creek. He saw a queer looking rock; knocked off a piece, had it assayed, and it proved to be the finding of the Independence gold mine, which made him famous and rich.

Gold Ore.

Moss Agate.

We offer for sale for $1 (express paid) a cabinet of 40 Rocky Mountain minerals and gems containing gold, silver, and copper ores, etc., from various Rocky Mountain mines. Also fancy minerals, agates, and petrified wood, all placed in a fancy box, each one properly described. A beautiful and instructive present for your boy or girl. If not satisfactory, money refunded.

These specimens of Gold-bearing Ore and Moss Agate illustrate the size of each of the 40 specimens in the cabinet.

$1, express paid (is the introductory price), which includes our Christmas catalogue of curious things. Order to-day. Address

How Goods Are Ordered By Mail.

Few people have any idea of the vast amount of goods that is being shipped by freight, express, and mail direct to the farmer and the home, and few have any idea how easy the great mail-order houses have made buying at wholesale, and how great are the inducements they offer to secure orders.

This office is just in receipt of Catalogue No. 107, issued by Sears, Roebuck & Co., of Chicago, a vast department store boiled down, so that you can sit down at your desk or table in your own home, and select just such goods as you want, and everything is made so plain by large, handsome, clear illustrations, plainly written descriptions and prices in plain figures, that every one can order by mail; have the advantage of such a vast variety to select from and such very low prices that it certainly is not strange that these big department stores which issue these big catalogues are attracting the attention of buyers everywhere in every walk of life. Sears, Roebuck & Co.'s Catalogue is certainly a merchandise encyclopædia, a book of 1,120 pages, weighing nearly 4 pounds, and while it requires 30 cents postage alone to mail it, they send it postpaid to any address on receipt of only 15 cents to help pay the postage. Everything you will find in the largest department stores, everything that is offered for sale in any kind of a store anywhere, is found complete in this catalogue, and so plainly illustrated and described, and priced so low, that it is not strange that people are so anxious to get this book, and that so many send to this house for their goods. We are informed that it requires seventy carloads of paper to print their Fall edition of this catalogue, fifty large printing presses running night and day to print them, and $150,000.00 in postage stamps to mail them. — Christian Index.

The Gentlewoman,

America's Greatest and Best Journal for Women.

12 PRIZES FOR STORY WRITERS.

Three hundred dollars for a story from 1,800 to 10,000 words. THE GENTLEWOMAN stands ready to give that amount. Better still, it will be glad to pay good prices for eleven more. The prizes are:

FIRST, $300.
SECOND, $150.
THIRD, $100.
FOURTH TO TWELFTH, $50 each.

MAKING $1,000 IN ALL.

WE WANT FASCINATING STORIES CLEVERLY TOLD. Writers may choose their own themes; but love stories, detective stories, ghost stories, stories of adventure and mystery are preferred. No poems desired. Each story must be original and so full of incident and action as to interest intelligent people everywhere. Clean, clever, wholesome stories, that are free from padding, foreign phrases, and attempted fine writing are what we want.

CONDITIONS.—All MSS. must bear a pen name, together with number of words, which may range from 1,800 to 10,000. In a separate sealed envelope accompanying each MS., marked on the outside with the pen name of the writer, must be the author's full name and address. As all stories will positively be judged on their merits, the writer's name or reputation will carry no weight whatever. Postage must be fully prepaid and accompanied by addressed and stamped envelope for their return. All letters relating to same must be enclosed with MS. and not under separate cover. All MSS. will be received and returned only at the writer's risk. With every MS. intended for this special prize competition must be enclosed in the same envelope $1.00 to pay for one year's subscription to THE GENTLEWOMAN. Write the name and address of the subscriber on a separate slip of paper, so that same can be turned over to our subscription department. This slip will positively not be seen by those who read and judge the stories, nor will they know the real name of the contributor until after awards are made. All envelopes containing MSS. and subscription must be plainly marked "Prize Stories." Their receipt will be promptly acknowledged. Competitors may send as many stories as they please, provided the above conditions are complied with in each case. The competition will close January 30, 1899, after which prizes will be paid in gold, and also announced in THE GENTLEWOMAN.

MSS. that fail to be included in the prize awards and are deemed worthy of publication in THE GENTLEWOMAN will be paid for at our regular rates; balance will be returned. The conditions and requirements being here fully set forth, neither the publishers nor editor can enter into correspondence relative thereto. All MSS. must be addressed

VOLUME XV. NEWARK, N. J., AUGUST, 1898. NUMBER 4.

Helping a Hero's Widow.

GEORGE H. ELLIS, Chief Yeoman of the Brooklyn, the only man killed in the great naval action off Santiago on July 3, which resulted in the destruction of Cervera's entire fleet and the capture of the Admiral, officers and men, was insured in The Prudential—had been for ten years. When fifteen years of age a small policy was issued to his parents on the boy's life, and later a second policy. The aggregate of the two policies—over $350—was promptly paid to the young widow, Mrs. Sarah M. Ellis, who resides at 819 Dean street, Brooklyn. She is left with an infant seven months old. The crew of the Brooklyn have raised a fund of about $1,000 for Mrs. Ellis, so that with the pension she will receive from the Government, she and her little one are secured against pecuniary distress. Yeoman Ellis was twenty-five years of age. The office of Yeoman is an important one. The Yeoman has charge of all the ship's stores, such as rigging, armament, ammunition, paint, oil, canvas, everything, literally, from a needle to an anchor—that is, everything outside of the food, clothing, cash and medical stores. He keeps account of everything on board the ship in the way of ship supplies, and issues nothing to any one on board, not even a broom or a marline spike, without an order from the executive officer. He heads the list of first-class petty officers and ranks with a Sergeant Major in the army.

The following communication explains itself:

John F. Dryden, Esq.,
Pres't of Prudential Insurance Co.

Dear Sir:—

I desire to express my thanks to you for the prompt payment of the insurance on my late husband, George H. Ellis' policies, who was killed in the naval battle at Santiago, July 3, 1898.

I recommend very highly The Prudential Insurance Company, as I received $11.26 more than my policies called for.

Very respectfully,
Sarah M. Ellis.

Mohammed on True Charity.

EVERY GOOD act is charity: Your smiling in your brother's face; your putting a wanderer in the right road; your giving water to the thirsty, is charity; exhortation to another to do right is charity. A man's true wealth hereafter is the good he has done in this world to his fellow-men. When he dies people will ask, What property has he left behind? But the angels will ask, What good deeds has he sent before him? —From a Sermon by Mohammed.

Age of "Old Glory."

"Old Glory" is older than the present flag of Great Britain, which was established in 1801; than the flag of Spain, which was established in 1785; than the French tricolor, decreed in 1794; than the flag of Portugal, established in 1830; than the Italian tricolor, established in 1848; than the flags of the old Empires of China and Japan, and of the Empire of Germany, which represents the sovereignty of fourteen distinct States, established in 1870.

The Largest in the World.

THE new 126-ton gun, intended to be placed on Romer Shoal, just north of Sandy Hook, New York, and now receiving its finishing touches at Watervliet arsenal, is the largest cannon in the world, six tons heavier and five feet longer than the monster gun at Sheerness, England, which has been the largest gun in the world since it was made in 1887.

Her Papa.

My papa 's all dressed up to-day,
He never looked so fine,
I thought when I first looked at him,
My papa was a 1 mine.

He's got a beautiful new suit—
The old one was an old—
It 's blue, with buttons, O, so bright,
I guess they must be gold.

And papa 's sort o' glad and sort
O' sad—I wonder why!
And every time she looks at him
It makes my mamma cry.

Who 's Uncle Sam? My papa says
That he belongs to him;
But papa 's joking, 'cause he knows
My uncle's name is Jim.

My papa just belongs to me
And mamma. And I guess
The folks are blind who cannot see
His buttons, marked U. S.

U. S. spells us. He 's ours—and yet
My mamma can't help cry.
And papa tries to smile at me
And can't—I wonder why!

—Mary Norton Bradford in Interior Chile.

A Unique Family Tree

We present in these columns a unique "tree," photographed from life. Brought to us recently as a Sozodont souvenir by friends, we instantly recognized it as typical of a number of families among our own acquaintance. This tree is representative of a family of Sozodont users — from the grandparents, "sound of tooth and limb," to the "baby" of the family—all of whom display the good effects of the dainty dentifrice. Sozodont has numberless friends like these, many of whom first used it forty years ago. The proprietors desire testimonials from families and offer return courtesies.

Scientists' Views on Cigarettes.

The word "cigarette" was introduced into English in 1842 by L. S. Costello. According to the figures of Prof. H. W. Wiley, chief chemist of the Department of Agriculture, a cigarette is composed of about $\frac{1}{25}$ of an ounce of tobacco wrapped in fine paper weighing $\frac{1}{700}$ of an ounce. The same expert is authority for the statement that the paper is pure and the tobacco wholly unadulterated.

"The tobacco used in the manufacture of cigarettes is much less frequently flavored and otherwise artificially treated than is ordinary chewing or smoking tobacco and that employed in the manufacture of cigars," says Prof. Willis G. Tucker, analyst of the New York State Board of Health, in his Ninth Annual Report.

"Never was a case stronger. The chemical purity of the cigarette is attested by the official chemist of the State Board of Health, and by an official analyst of seventeen years' experience in the Health Department of New York City, together with the chief chemist of the United States and the chemists of colleges and of other cities."— The Mail and Express (N. Y.).

"The fact that cigarettes do not cause insanity finds confirmation from such experts as the president of New York State Commission in Lunacy, a former State Commissioner in Lunacy, the superintendent of the State Lunatic Asylum, and a qualified examiner in lunacy in the Superior Court of the city of New York, together with a score of other experts all over the United States."

Deputy Coroner Edward J. Donlin, of New York City, says: "I have made thousands of autopsies and I do not recall a case when death could be directly charged to cigarette smoking." — The Mail and Express (N. Y.).

The superintendent of the Iowa Hospital for the Insane recently reported that after an examination of 28,081 cases of insanity he found only one in which the alleged cause was cigarette smoking. "That the cigarette is a cause of insanity is most positively denied," he adds. It is a curious fact that although "Death from Cigarettes" is a familiar headline in carelessly edited or sensational papers, the mortuary records of the Board of Health published in those same sheets never have been known to bear the words: "Cause — cigarettes."

Mr. Goschen, when Chancellor of the Exchequer in England, attributed the falling off in the use of "heavy wines" after dinner to the "circulation of the cigarette."

"The cigarette has but little strength, it can do you no harm," says Joseph Baker in his quaint little book, "Smoking and Smokers: an Antiquarian, Historical, Veritable, and Narcotical Disquisition." Joseph wrote before science had had a say, but Joseph was right, as recent papers read before the New York Medico-Legal Society prove.

In all the experiments made by chemists to test popular brands of American cigarettes, no trace of any adulterant has ever been found. If this does not demolish the "opium-arsenic" theory of adulterants in cigarettes, then the science of chemistry is valueless as a means of arriving at truth.

"The status of the cigarette is this: It is just tobacco and paper. It does not contain poison. It does not cause insanity. Science proves both these statements." — The Illustrated American.

These groceries amount to $15.00
Couch sells for . . . . . 15.00
Both would cost $30.00
Our sample order price only $15.00

We are sometimes asked how we can afford to make such an offer as this. We will tell you the secret. The goods are sold direct from manufacturer to consumer, saving the two or three profits you have to pay when goods are bought at usual retail prices. Our contracts for goods were placed months ago, when prices were lowest ever known, and are among the largest ever placed for supplies in this country. We get special prices and our plan gives our patrons all the advantages of these prices.

How to Order.

Simply say you are a reader of this paper and accept our Sample Offer No 32 and give full directions; also state color of upholstering, first and second choice. Orders should be signed by the head of the family. Price includes packing and drayage for goods on board cars in Chicago. When the goods arrive at depot examine them and if found to be all we claim remit us the sample price for groceries alone, $15. Otherwise refuse them and notify us that they are subject to our order.

To Our Friends who prefer to remit in advance (we don't ask it) we give the lady of the house 1 doz. Turkish Bath Towels, 14x27 in., fringed and hemstitched. This about pays us for bookkeeping and other clerical work and should go to the customers as a saving to them. The towels are an extra premium for cash in advance and will not be given with C. O. D. orders. Money refunded if goods are not as represented.

Testimonials.

Gentlemen: The sample order of groceries came in due time. I do not see how it is that you give so much and of such good quality for $15 and then such a beautiful couch for a present. Those who have not seen the goods and couch say it is almost impossible, but I know it is so, for I have received the goods and couch. H. E. BABCOCK.
Garner, Iowa, March 3, 1898.

Gentlemen: Groceries and couch received. Everything just as advertised. No packages broken and everything full weight. EUGENE WYKOFF.
New Carlisle, Ind.

Gentlemen: Groceries and couch arrived safely. Am highly pleased with them. Will say that you have performed what you advertised.
Bainbridge, N. Y. MRS. E. H. WARREN.

NOTE.—We have hundreds of other testimonials of a similar nature, but lack of space prevents our publishing them in this article.

LOST 40 lbs. OF FAT.

Are you too stout?

MRS. HELEN WEBER, of Marietta, O., says: "It reduced my weight 40 lbs. without sickness or any inconvenience whatever."

If so, why not reduce your weight and be comfortable? Obesity is a disease and predisposes to Heart Trouble, Paralysis, Liver Disease, Rheumatism, Apoplexy, etc., and is not only dangerous, but extremely annoying to people of refined taste. We do not care how many reduction remedies you may have taken without success, we have a simple treatment that will reduce weight, as thousands can testify. The following are a few of the thousands who have been reduced in weight and greatly improved in health by its use.

CATARRH CAN BE CURED.

Catarrh is a kindred ailment of consumption, long considered incurable; and yet there is one remedy that will positively cure catarrh in any of its stages. For many years this remedy was used by the late Dr. Stevens, a widely noted authority on all diseases of the throat and lungs. Having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, and desiring to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all sufferers from Catarrh, Asthma, Consumption, and nervous diseases, this recipe, in German, French, or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing, with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. Noyes, 920 Powers Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Wonderful Invention

Tones Every Organ and Nerve in the System

Price, $5.00.

Every home should have our New Improved Thermal Vapor Bath Cabinet (recently patented). It opens the several million pores all over the body, and sweats out of the system all impure and poisonous matter which causes disease. Gives absolute cleanliness and without medicine, keeps the body healthy and vigorous. Will cure a hard cold and break up all symptoms of typhoid and other fevers with one bath. Reduces surplus flesh; cures rheumatism and all blood, skin, nerve, kidney diseases. You will have all the invigorating, cleansing, and purifying effects of the most luxurious Turkish, hot-air, or medicated bath at a trifling cost. Price, $5.00.

The Rev. J. W. Bailey, D. D., Topeka, Kans., recommends this Thermal Bath Cabinet highly for nervous diseases. S. R. May, Haven, Kans., suffered fifteen years with rheumatism. After using our Bath Cabinet a short time he was entirely cured. Dr. Wm. F. Holcombe, one of New York's ablest and best known specialists, recommends this Cabinet for Bright's disease and all kidney troubles, and also says it is the greatest cure known for pneumonia.

Ladies should have our Complexion Steamer used in conjunction with the Cabinet, in which the face is given the same vapor treatment as the body. The only harmless and sure method of drawing away all impurities, leaving the skin clear and soft as velvet. It is the only cure for pimples, blotches, and other disfiguring sores and blemishes. Invaluable for the successful treatment of Catarrh and Asthma. Price, $1.50 extra.

PRIZE PROBLEM
$500.00
IN SOUVENIR PRIZES

PRIZES SENT SAME DAY ANSWER IS RECEIVED

And Other Prizes Later if YOU Want Them

This is Dewey, the hero of Manila. That is plain. But hovering around him are four of his admirers. They are not so plain. Can you find them? If you can, mark each face with an X and return to us with 25 cents silver or 26 cents in stamps for a trial subscription to the CHICAGO HOUSEHOLD GUEST, a 20-page family monthly, and you will receive a magnificent Dewey souvenir spoon as a prize. This magnificent spoon contains a medallion of the great hero, Admiral Dewey: also in the bowl is shown the magnificent flagship, Olympia, in relief, together with ornamentation, both beautiful and patriotic. This spoon is full size, and, notwithstanding the great cost of design, is also completely plated with gold, both bowl and handle. In addition to this we will allow you to enter our subscribers' contest, without further cost. You will get full particulars of its requirements with your prize for answering the puzzle, and have a fair, equal and even chance, by meritorious effort and no further expenditure of money, to win a grand prize. Among them are and many others too numerous to mention. We wish to lead, and hence offer these valuable prizes to increase our subscription list. Remember that if you solve the Dewey Puzzle you will be sure of one prize, as promised, and you will not be required to expend another penny to compete in the contest for the large prizes, the full particulars of which will be sent you free. In our subscription contest which closed June 30, Mrs. A. Packard, 517 N. 10th St., Saginaw, E. S., Mich., got $100; Mrs. Wm. Fenton, La Junta, Colo., got a Bicycle; J. E. Joncas, 71 Main St., Hartford, Conn., got Gold Watch; Miss Hattie Huguinn, Medford, Wis., got $12.50; Miss Bertha L. Sexaur, 1212 Scranton Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, got $12.50; P. Bray, Augusta, Ga., got Sewing Machine; 5 got Silk Dresses, 5 got Silver Tea Sets, 10 got Diamond Rings, 10 got Silver Water Pitchers, 22 got Silver Tea Pots, 30 got Silver Bonbon and set Spoons, 29 got Gold Rings, 30 got Silver Sugar Shell and Butter Knife, 40 got Silver Bonbon, 110 got Silver Orange Spoons—in fact, every one got a prize. The best, brightest and most zealous got the large prizes. Will you be one to try and win the $100? If so, answer to-day and be among the first to enter. The regular price of the paper is 50 cents, but if you answer our Dewey puzzle we will send it to you for half price, and if your answer be correct, you are sure of a prize by return mail. If you are not satisfied money will be promptly returned. If you are now a subscriber your time will be extended. When contest closes names of winners of principal prizes will appear in the HOUSEHOLD GUEST. When answering be sure and say whether you are a subscriber now or not. Answer to-day. Contest closes December 31, 1898. Address

HAIR ON THE FACE, NECK, ARMS OR ANY PART OF THE PERSON

QUICKLY DISSOLVED AND REMOVED WITH THE NEW SOLUTION

MODENE

AND THE GROWTH FOREVER DESTROYED WITHOUT THE SLIGHTEST INJURY OR DISCOLORATION OF THE MOST DELICATE SKIN.

Discovered by Accident.—In Compounding, an incomplete mixture was accidentally spilled on the back of the hand, and on washing afterward it was discovered that the hair was completely removed. We purchased the new discovery and named it MODENE. It is perfectly pure, free from all injurious substances, and so simple any one can use it. It acts mildly but surely, and you will be surprised and delighted with the results. Apply for a few minutes and the hair disappears as if by magic. It has no resemblance whatever to any other preparation ever used for a like purpose, and no scientific discovery ever attained such wonderful results. IT CAN NOT FAIL. If the growth be light, one application will remove it permanently; the heavy growth such as the beard or hair on moles may require two or more applications before all the roots are destroyed, although all hair will be removed at each application, and without slightest injury or unpleasant feeling when applied or ever afterward. MODENE SUPERCEDES ELECTROLYSIS.

Recommended by all who have tested its merits—Used by people of refinement.

Gentlemen who do not appreciate nature's gift of a beard, will find a priceless boon in Modene, which does away with shaving. It dissolves and destroys the life principle of the hair, thereby rendering its future growth an utter impossibility, and is guaranteed to be as harmless as water to the skin. Young persons who find an embarrassing growth of hair coming, should use Modene to destroy its growth. Modene sent by mail, in safety mailing cases, postage paid, (securely sealed from observation) on receipt of price, $1.00 per bottle. Send money by letter, with your full address written plainly. ☞ Correspondence sacredly private. Postage stamps received the same as cash. (ALWAYS MENTION YOUR COUNTY AND THIS PAPER.) ### WE WANT FASCINATING STORIES CLEVERLY TOLD.

Writers may choose their own themes; but love stories, detective stories, ghost stories, stories of adventure and mystery are preferred. No poems desired. Each story must be original and so full of incident and action as to interest intelligent people everywhere. Clean, clever, wholesome stories, that are free from padding, foreign phrases, and attempted fine writing are what we want.

CONDITIONS.

—All MSS. must bear a pen name, together with number of words, which may range from 1,800 to 10,000. In a separate sealed envelope accompanying each MS., marked on the outside with the pen name of the writer, must be the author's full name and address. As all stories will positively be judged on their merits, the writer's name or reputation will carry no weight whatever. Postage must be fully prepaid and accompanied by addressed and stamped envelope for their return. All letters relating to same must be enclosed with MS. and not under separate cover. All MSS. will be received and returned only at the writer's risk. With every MS. intended for this special prize competition must be enclosed in the same envelope $1.00 to pay for one year's subscription to THE GENTLEWOMAN. Write the name and address of the subscriber on a separate slip of paper, so that same can be turned over to our subscription department. This slip will positively not be seen by those who read and judge the stories, nor will they know the real name of the contributor until after awards are made. All envelopes containing MSS. and subscription must be plainly marked "Prize Stories." Their receipt will be promptly acknowledged. Competitors may send as many stories as they please, provided the above conditions are complied with in each case. The competition will close January 30, 1896, after which prizes will be paid in gold, and also announced in 'THE GENTLEWOMAN.

MSS. that fail to be included in the prize awards and are deemed worthy of publication in 'THE GENTLEWOMAN will be paid for at our regular rates; balance will be returned. The conditions and requirements being here fully set forth, neither the publishers nor editor can enter into correspondence relative thereto. All MSS. must be addressed

PURE WHISKEY

DIRECT FROM DISTILLER TO CONSUMER.

FOUR FULL QUARTS,

EXPRESS CHARGES PREPAID,

FOR $3.20.

We will send four full quart bottles of Hayner's Seven-Year-Old Double Copper Distilled Rye Whiskey for $3.20, express prepaid. We ship on approval, in plain boxes, with no marks to indicate contents. When you receive it and test it, if it is not satisfactory return it at our expense and we will refund your $3.20.

For thirty years we have been supplying pure whiskey to consumers direct from our own distillery, known as "Hayner's Registered Distillery, No. 2, Tenth District, Ohio." No other Distillers sell to consumers direct. Those who propose to sell you whiskey in this way are dealers buying promiscuously and selling again, thus naturally adding a profit which can be saved by buying from us direct. Such whiskey as we offer you for $3.20 cannot be purchased elsewhere for less than $5.00, and the low price at which we offer it saves you the addition of middlemen's profits, besides guaranteeing to you the certainty of pure whiskey absolutely free from adulteration.

"The Tax on Moustaches"
BY H. J. W. DAM.
$1500.00 PRIZE STORY
International Trust Company
Facsimile of face and back of check for $1,500 paid by The Black Cat to H. J. W. Dam, for "The Tax on Moustaches."

It is seldom, indeed, that there dawns on the public a story both international and intensely American, pulsing with romance yet never descending to mawkishness, introducing a tangle of motives yet never tearing probability to tatters,—in short, a story which, avoiding bloodshed, ghosts, robbery on the one hand, and farce-comedy and milk-and-water sentiment on the other, by turn delights, enthralls, mystifies, finally subjugates the mind of the most exacting reader.

Such a story, told in English which is always at high-water mark, is "The Tax on Moustaches," which will appear in the January number of The Black Cat.

The sum paid by the publishers of The Black Cat for "The Tax on Moustaches" represents, no doubt, the highest rate ever paid for a short story. While more than $1,500 has been paid for a single story that filled a volume or ran through many instalments, in no other instance, we believe, was 33 cents per word paid for a story judged solely upon its merits.

The Black Cat differs from all other publications in that it pays nothing for the name or reputation of a writer, but pays the highest price on record for Stories that are Stories; that it pays NOT according to Length but according to Strength; that it publishes No Serial Stories, No Translations, No Borrowings, and No Stealings.

It is gratifying to note in this connection that the author of "The Tax on Moustaches," although at present a resident of London, is an American by birth—a native of California.

Those who fail to read this Prize Story will miss a literary treat, such as is rarely placed within easy reach of all.

Great Holiday Offer

For Lovers of Real Prize Stories of Adventure, Mystery, Detectives, Love, Humor, and Pathos. For $1.00 we will mail at once, postage paid, 24 back numbers of THE BLACK CAT, each complete in itself and copyrighted, and also mail regularly as issued, postage paid, one copy from Jan., 1899, to Dec., 1899, inclusive. This offer comprises 36 numbers (3 years at price of 2) containing nearly 200 original, fascinating stories all complete, and costing over thirty thousand dollars. THE SHORTSTORY PUBLISHING CO., Boston, Mass.

HE CURES RUPTURE

REMARKABLE SUCCESSES OF THE DR. RICE METHOD.

Even Old Men Ruptured All Their Lives Cured.

WM. T. BLANDIN, of Riceville, Ia., was cured by Dr. Rice after 33 years' suffering with a bad rupture. No more remarkable experience than his was ever recorded.

Any person who is ruptured or knows of any one suffering with this blighting affliction should interest themselves in the now famous Dr. Rice method, a system invented by Dr. W. S. Rice, of Adams, N. Y.

His plan differs from all others in the fact that it not only holds any kind of a rupture continually and securely with perfect comfort, day and night, but causes new flesh to form in the ruptural opening, thus binding the broken place firmly and producing an absolutely perfect and permanent cure. No other method does this.

Those who have been ruptured for years and have tried everything without success will doubtless be skeptical about this new method, but it is worth while investigating. And when it is considered that the sufferer may go about his daily work with all the freedom of one having a sound body, without pain of any kind, with no danger, and without undergoing an operation, then it is certainly a method that one ought to look into and learn all about.

GEO. F. MULFORD, 484 E. Fifth St., Boston, Mass. was a sufferer 18 years; tried various trusses; and was cured by Dr. Rice in a few weeks. Mr. Mulford naturally recommends Dr. Rice to all sufferers.

Upon application to DR. W. S. RICE, 293 R Main Street, Adams, N. Y., he will mail free to your address an explanatory book which tells all about his method and is a very convincing proof of the fact that he cures rupture.

Write to-day while the idea is fresh in your mind.
